THOMAS H. INCE DROPS DEAD

PIONEER OF MOVIELAND SUDDENLY STRICKEN

End Due to Violent Heart Attack In Residence at Los Angeles Suburb

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Thomas H. Ince, pioneer motion picture producer, dropped dead at his palatial home "Dias Dorados" in Beverly Hills, Los Angeles suburb, today.

The death of the prominent producer, who is survived by his widow and three sons, was unexpected, although he had been ill since Monday, when he was seized with a fainting spell while on location near San Diego. Death was due to a violent heart attack, physicians said.

Among the prominent stars Ince directed were Dorothy Dalton, Enid Bennett, Charles Ray, Hobart Bosworth and Douglas McLean.

Appears On Stage

His leading productions included "The Wrath of the Gods," "Mary's Ankle" and "What's Your Husband Doing?"

Ince was born in Newport, R. I., in 1882, and his first important stage appearance was with James A. Hearne in "Shore Acres."

He started his screen career in 1909, in New York, and later was appointed a director, coming to California in 1910.

His first experience in pictures was gained in New York under the old Kay-Bee banner. Subsequently he came to Southern California and began production in a little studio at Edendale.

Makes Inceville

The establishment of picturesque Inceville, below Santa Monica, followed within a short time.

The next step in his career as a producer came with the organization of the Triangle group, at the dissolution of which he constructed his present studios at Culver City.

All Southland's Studios Close As Tribute To Ince

By COPELAND C. BURG
For International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Make-up boxes were idle in Los Angeles' motion picture colony today.

When news of the death of Thomas H. Ince, one of filmland's foremost producers, was flashed from studio to studio, silently directors and actors walked from the lots and production for the day ceased.

For discovering and development of many of the screen's leading stars, Ince was best known.

He made William S. Hart. He discovered a youth who looked like the original "boy down on the farm" and gave the screen world Charles Ray. He brought out Dorothy Dalton and induced Billy Burke, the famous stage queen, to play before the camera.

Ince first put Frank Keenan in pictures. He made Louise Glaum,

Marked Nickel Is Back to Army Cook After Seven Years

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ill., Nov. 19.—Seven years ago a cook in an army camp at San Antonio, Texas, found a lonely nickel in his pocket. "Might as well be broke," he thought, as he spent it for a candy bar.

But before cashing it in at the canteen he cut his initials on one side and his army serial number on the other. Nothing like celebrating the occasion of being broke for the first time in his life.

At his restaurant here today—a thousand miles away—Fritz Glaser sold a candy bar to a little girl. In payment she gave him the 5-cent piece he had marked seven years ago.

"I'll never be 'broke' again," Fritz told his friends. "That nickel is going to stay by me as a memento.

GUARD MILK TRUCKS ON HIGHWAY

Deputy Sheriffs Patrol Roads Leading Into Bay Cities As Price War Rages

OAKLAND, Nov. 19—With distributors claiming the back-bone of the "milk strike" had been broken and producers declaring they would fight to the bitter end and denying the claims of the distributors, the milk war continued today.

Guarded by deputy sheriffs who patrolled the roads, huge trucks carried milk into Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley from sources of supply hitherto used elsewhere. It was claimed that Oakland's supply was 65 per cent of normal and Berkeley expected today to have 75 per cent of its normal supply.

Producers said the big expense now being borne by the distributors would soon force them to terms, pointing out that they are able to convert their product into butter and cheese and thus absorb the greater part of their loss.

HEAVYWEIGHT COMES OUT OF HIDING

Tony Fuente and Winsor, His Manager, Surrender On Fake Fight Charge

BULLETIN

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Complaints charging conspiracy to violate the state prize fight law, a felony which carries a sentence of two years in the penitentiary, will be filed immediately against Fred Fulton, St. Paul boxer, his manager, Jack Reddy, Tony Fuente Los Angeles heavyweight, and Fuente's manager, Fred (Windy) Winsor, District Attorney Asa Keyes announced today.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Accompanied by attorneys, Tony Fuente, Mexican pugilist whose alleged "love taps" knocked out Fred Fulton, St. Paul plasterer and former heavyweight title contender, in what the authorities branded as a "fake" fight Monday night, appeared today before District Attorney Asa Keyes. Fuente was accompanied by his manager, Fred (Windy) Winsor.

After being questioned it was expected Fuente and Winsor, for whom warrants charging prize fighting were issued, will be released on bail and ordered to appear in court Friday with Fulton and Jack Reddy, Fulton's St. Paul manager, who were taken into custody yesterday.

Denies Frame-up

Winsor and Fuente voluntarily surrendered today after being in hiding since Fulton did his "flop."

"The American Legion of Culver City and not me promoted the Fulton-Fuente bout," Winsor declared when he arrived at the district attorney's office. "I certainly knew of no frame-up and the reason Fulton flopped was that Fuente hurt him when he hit him three times or else he took a dive because he was afraid of getting a beating. I just ask that the public reserve its opinion of me and Fuente until the facts in the case are aired. Fuente is as innocent as a new born babe."

Subscribers Save Money on Yearly Rate for The News

The Evening News subscribers for years have been taking advantage of the saving offered them by this paper on long-time subscriptions The regular yearly charges for the paper is $5. There are those who see fit to take advantage of the rate of $1.40 for three months or $2.75 for six months, both of which ways means a saving over the 50 cents per month plan. The Evening News is better able to keep up the high standard of the paper by the receipt of these long-time subscriptions, with little expense in making collections, and in employing additional help to make twelve monthly records a year instead of one, two or four. We have the hearty co-operation of the subscribers to thank for making it possible to give them the very best daily paper possible.

Limerick Editor Picks Three Prize Winners! Now He Wants More!

By LIMERICK EDITOR
Of The Evening News Staff.

Oh-o-o! Also Ah-h-h! The Limerick Editor of The Glendale Evening News is groggy; he's still gasping for air! The flood of letters in the limerick contest has left him half-stunned. He has managed to pick the three prize winners. And, at that, he's not at all sure he's a good picker. However, here goes:

C. H. MUHLEMAN, 222 East Garfield, gets the first prize, a check for $3. Mr. Muhleman had his offering in this newspaper's office soon after the contest was announced, which counted in his favor. Here's what he sent in:

There was a young lady named Banker
Who slept while the ship lay at anchor.
She awoke in dismay
When she heard the mate say:
"Now raise the top sheet and spanker."

Now, the Limerick Editor doesn't know what Mr. Muhleman knows about a boat, but the editor gleefully submits that the offering is a gem of the first water. Ship ahoy!

MRS. T. R. GRAHAM, 134 North Louise, gets the second prize, a check for $2. Mrs. Graham sent a number of limericks to the contest department, but the one selected as a prize winner is this:

There's man in this town named Joe Skinned,
When this contest was mentioned he grinned
And said: "It's not much surprising,
'Cause for unique advertising,
Sure, The News has the others all skinned."

The Limerick Editor respectfully submits that Mrs. Graham is a careful reader of The Glendale Evening News—and knows that this newspaper "has the others all skinned." Yes, indeed! That knowledge brings $2 to Mrs. Graham.

A. F. WEBSTER, 123 South Maryland, gets the third prize, a check for $1. In announcing the limerick contest, The Glendale Evening News said that Daniel Webster wrote the dictionary. Shades of history! Everybody knows that Noah and not Daniel compiled that best seller. Evidently, however, the proofreading department of this newspaper did not, for Daniel got the credit in the limerick contest announcement. Now comes A. F. Webster, who signs himself as "One of the Clan," with this:

There is a young newspaper man
Who gives us the news best he can.
No doubt he's all right
And unusually bright,
But he doesn't know Noah from Dan.

Hot shot! Eh, what? Don't you agree with the Limerick Editor that Mr. Webster is deserving of $1, at least, for picking up that error and making it into a limerick? Even the proofreading department of The Glendale Evening News admits that Mr. Webster, not Noah or Dan, but A. F., is a prize winner.

And so there you have the three prize winners. Now let's have some of the many other limericks entered in the contest.

Here's one from R. D. White, 1216 East Maple, who, be it known, is city superintendent of schools:

There was a young fellow named Bill
Whose conceit there was nothing could kill.
"Ha! Ha! He would shriek,
"I'm a marvelous sheik!"
But the girls all declared him a pill.

Helen B. Griggs of 665 Pioneer drive sent in the following offering, all about a young chap by the name of Syd:

There was a young fellow named Syd,
Who kissed a girl on the eye-lid,
Said she to the lad,
"Your aim's mighty bad,
You should practice a while." So he did.

Dr. Will Classen of 101 East Los Feliz remembered the young lady from Niger and sent in this one, as did several others in the contest:

There was a young lady from Niger,
Who smilingly rode on a tiger
When they returned from their ride
The girl was inside
And the smile was on the tiger.

From Mrs. C. Hollenbeck of 815 South Maryland came this

Another Contest

Ohmigosh!

The Limerick Editor of The Glendale Evening News, still groggy from the limerick contest that closed Monday at midnight, has just whispered that he wants another contest! Well, let him have it! Therefore:

The Glendale Evening News announces that it will pay $3 for the best limerick, $2 for the second best and $1 for the third best received at its office, 139 South Brand, on or before midnight Friday, November 21, 1924. Each limerick must be signed by the writer, with street address. None will be returned. Prize winning limericks and a number of others received in the contest will be published in this newspaper. All limericks must be addressed to LIMERICK EDITOR, The Glendale Evening News.

Read the prize winning limericks in today's Evening News; read others submitted and published—then sit you down and write better ones. You can do it, and, perhaps, be picked as a prize winner.

If you wrote a limerick in the contest just closed and failed to get a prize, don't be down-hearted. Just shoot in some more. The Limerick Editor says he wants every man, woman and child in Glendale to write limericks. Ain't he a glutton for punishment?

Come on, gang! Let's go! Shoot him your limericks!

Martin's automatic was found empty and there was evidence he had put up a terrific battle. Blood on the telephone indicated he had attempted to summon police.

Police found W. J. McDonald, 23, a few blocks away, wounded. He denied he was implicated in the attempted robbery, but police held him for investigation.

ELIMINATION OF TIMBER DECRIED

President Quotes Figures at Opening of Conference On Limited Supply

By GEORGE E. DURNO
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—Only the most drastic conservation measures will prevent the absolute disappearance of America's great forests within less than fifty years' time, President Coolidge revealed today in opening the national conference on utilization of forest products.

The conference was called as one of the last official acts of the late Secretary of Agriculture Wallace to devise ways and means of rehabilitation of American timber reserves through conservation and elimination of waste.

The president drew an unpleasant picture of timberless future. With cold facts and figures, he brought home the extreme importance of maintaining an adequate forest reserve, showing how its destruction would be followed by the virtual annihilation of the third largest industry with its ensuing era of unemployment, and by lack of most essential building material.

Forests Exhausted

Production and consumption figures were cited that indicated the United States would be without timber within 40 years unless drastic measures were taken at once to restore and to check.

"The era of free, wild timber is reaching its end," the president warned. "We can no longer depend on moving from one great primeval forest to another, for already the sound of the axe has penetrated the last of them."

Quotes Figures

Mr. Coolidge urged the conference to bring out a "program of specific action for timber saving, rather than a mere expression of ideas." He promised the fullest co-operation of the government and declared that the safety of generations to come hinged upon the success of present deliberations. He did not offer any suggestions, confining his remarks merely to a portrayal of conditions as they now exist.

"Expressed roughly," he said, "we have left about 745,000,000,000 cubic feet of timber. From this, the annual drain is 25,000,000,000 cubic feet. This total drain is most significant when we reflect that, toward offsetting it, we have an annual timber growth of only six billion cubic feet—and even in our young forests, where this growth is taking place, cutting has already outstripped growth. We must face the situation that at this rate we are not far from timber exhaustion."

Coolidge To Be Candidate In 1928, Belief of Leaders

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—President Coolidge's friends believe he will be a candidate to succeed himself in 1928. This belief which is beginning to be widely shared by most Republican leaders in the capital, has been strengthened in the last week by the president's insistence that William M. Butler, retain the chairmanship of the Republican national committee, in addition to assuming his new duties as a senator from Massachusetts.

Whatever purpose really lies behind Mr. Coolidge's wish that Butler keep the headship of the Republican machine, it is plain at least that the president intends to keep a tight grip on the efficient political machine that has ploughed through all opposition in the campaign and landed him in the White House by a popular and electoral majority that has seldom been equalled in history.

With Butler acting as White House spokesman in the senate and remaining in control of the national committee, the outlook will be poor indeed for anti-Coolidge elements within the party to promote any other presidential booms in the direction of 1928.

DEFENDS MAN SHE JILTED YEARS AGO

Former Belle of Michigan Bar Says Cattleman Is 'Subject to Spells'

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—Coming to the defense of the man she jilted fifty years ago, Mrs. Annie Grimshaw, belle of Michigan bar in the early eighties, today corroborated claims of defense attorneys that James Martin, 71-year-old cattleman, charged with slaying John Mayhan, his neighbor, became mentally deranged following his unsuccessful courtship and has since been subject to spells of temporary insanity.

Mrs. Grimshaw, clad in black and comely despite her advanced years, declared that she rejected Martin's offers of marriage because of his "queer ways." He was a moody lover, she told the court, inclined to erratic behavior, but persistent in his attentions.

Questioned as to how her suitor showed his insanity, Mrs. Grimshaw said:

"Well, on one occasion he sat on the proch with me for more than an hour and never spoke a word. I became alarmed and went to my mother and when we returned he had his head wrapped in a blanket. It was this erratic conduct shown in many ways that made me afraid of him."

CLUB WOMAN DIES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Emma Livingstone Read, club woman and editor, died here today.

RAIDERS GET ARMS, RAISE U.S. COLORS ON 'FORT'

District Attorney of Inyo County Leaves to Ask Governor for Troops

INDEPENDENCE, Nov. 19.—Bloodshed in the fight between Owens valley residents and the city of Los Angeles over the valley's water rights appeared certain today.

Large quantities of arms and ammunition were taken during the night to the Alabama hills aqueduct spillway for use of the raiders, who seized the gates Sunday.

District Attorney Hession left by automobile today for Sacramento to urge Governor Richardson to send troops to Inyo county.

Raise American Flag

Making military preparations for a defense in case armed deputies attempted to oust them from their position, the militant band of raiders from the "valley of broken hearts" posted sentries, erected searchlights to pierce the darkness, nailed an American flag to one of the seized city buildings, and waited developments.

While the Owens valley people calmly made preparations to resist any attempt to oust them from the spillway vantage point, Los Angeles city officials went into court, asking that warrants be sworn out for the arrest of the raiders, and Sheriff Charles C. Collins made his third appeal for troops to Governor Richardson.

Stop Travelers

More raiders joined the camp at Lone Pine today. All passersby on the Owens valley highway were being stopped and questioned by outpost sentries.

District Attorney Jess Hession of Inyo county united with the sheriff in the appeal for troops, asserting the situation was so tense he was in "extreme fear of bloodshed."

Both Hession and Collins said Inyo county was in a "state of anarchy," and they were powerless to avert trouble.

Bitterness Results

Increased tensity was caused in the situation by circulation of reports that armed deputies were proceeding to Inyo county from Los Angeles.

This was denied by Los Angeles officials, but the rumors continued to be circulated, and caused more bitterness.

The word reaching here that Los Angeles authorities are demanding the arrest of 100 or more of those valley people who participated in the turning of the water from the aqueduct is causing considerable discussion.

Governor Sends State Engineer To Make Inquiry

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—Governor Friend W. Richardson announced today he had sent State Engineer W. F. McClure to Inyo county to investigate the Owens river aqueduct controversy.

"So far nothing has occurred to warrant any aggressive action on my part," the governor declared. "The sheriff has power

Traffic Meeting Called By Planning Commission

T. W. Watson, chairman of the City Planning commission, under whose auspices Harland Bartholomew, consulting engineer of the Los Angeles City and County Planning commission, will speak in Glendale, urged everyone to attend the meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when the traffic expert will discuss plans for a city-wide traffic survey here.

Members of the City Council, Chamber of Commerce, Realty board and many other civic organizations have signified their intentions to be represented at the meeting, which will be held in the auditorium of the Harvard High school.

Members of the Planning commission will escort Mr. Bartholomew on an inspection tour of Glendale's main arteries early tomorrow afternoon before the meeting. The traffic engineer has made several other visits to Glendale recently, familiarizing himself with traffic conditions here.

In urging citizens, generally, to attend the meeting, Mr. Watson pointed to what he declared was an all-important matter, since the traffic survey in Los Angeles has been completed, namely, that nine main arteries of travel in the larger city have been planned in a manner which vitally affects Glendale's future.

Connecting links are all that will be necessary to give this city advantage of these nine major highway plans of Los Angeles, he stated, and to intelligently plan for such connections and lay plans for other traffic and highway developments in Glendale, it is the belief of the Planning commission that expert opinion and counsel should be obtained.

Mr. Bartholomew, having been a member of the Los Angeles traffic commission's advisory board, is particularly fitted to continue the work done in Los Angeles by connecting the planned highways up with Glendale so they will prove of greatest advantage to this city, Mr. Watson said.

CLOSER HARMONY NEED OF SCHOOLS

Parent And Teacher Should Display Great Deal More Co-operation

O. E. McDOWELL

The tremendous importance of the teacher in our scheme of public education was most clearly and forcibly emphasized by Horace Mann when he said, "Place Mark Hopkins on one end of a log in the wilderness and a young man on the other end and you have a university." While this remark may still be timely it was particularly so in the time of Horace Mann for at that time the teacher was indeed the school. The prominent teachers of that time were men of great personality and wonderful native ability. Their pupils too were a select few who were on fire with a zeal for learning and were willing to make almost any sacrifice to get it.

The educators of that early day caught the vision of a more liberal education for the masses and foresaw the need for a large body of trained teachers. The subsequent development of normal schools and teacher training courses in the colleges and universities have given us this large groupe of well trained teachers who in scholarship and technique of teaching are superior to those of the earlier day. But along with this development in the teaching profession has come also a very rapid and decided change in social and economic conditions which has brought into the foreground other factors of prime importance.

Presents Problem

The tremendous increase in population and its drift toward congested centers, the introduction into this population of a large foreign element and the economic demand in all lines for workers with a more liberal education have added much to the complexity of the school problem. In former years teaching was a rather simple two phase problem between teacher and pupil with the teacher in complete control of the process. Today with our compulsory education laws in force and our compulsory attendance age gradually rising, and with the ever increasing number of social contacts open to boys and girls outside of home and school, a large per cent of the pupils in any high school is sure to be disinterested or at best only mildly interested in any serious work in school.

The economic necessity for large schools and the organization of the courses by departments and the specialized training of teachers for special departments have all helped to weaken the close relationship between the pupil and his one teacher who could exercise close supervision over all his work and conduct. The pupil now comes in contact with many teachers and his responsibility is divided. Likewise each teacher comes in contact daily with from one to two hundred pupils within the few short hours of the school day. It is far more difficult for teachers to keep the same close supervision over all the work and conduct of the pupils.

Lack Realization

The pupils who have learned in the home to carry individual responsibility usually do well in school but there is in every high school a rather large group of pupils who do not assume such responsibility for either their work or conduct. They do not realize that an education is nothing more than the development and training by means of directed individual effort of the mental, physical and moral abilities of the pupil. The importance of individual effort is underestimated. The idea is far too prevalent even among parents that an education is something which the school can hand over to the pupil in return for attendance.

I am convinced that the high school of the future will graduate only such students as have shown throughout their high school course the ability and willingness to carry individual responsibility. Already colleges and universities are beginning to refuse entrance to those who have not shown such willingness and ability in high school and unless pupils can enter the high school with a keener sense of personal responsibility and greater faith in the importance of individual effort the per cent of failures in high school will increase rather than decrease.

Parents' Position

This means that the parent is coming into a position of greater importance as a vital factor in a three phase educational system. Our present day school system may well be likened to a triangle with three equally important vertices and three equal connecting lines. The pupil, the parent and the teacher are the three corners and their relationships with one another are the connecting lines. Just as the triangle, the most rigid of all geometric figures collapses when either side is missing so the educational structure begins to fail when either of the factors or the connecting relationships fail.

The modern high school is no longer a simple institution with a single course of study and a few teachers who can come into close personal touch with the pupil and supervise all his activities throughout the day. On the contrary it is a large complex organization with many courses of study to suit all types of students and with many teachers and supervisors of varying types of personality and furthermore it is usually situated in a large populous center surrounded by countless interests and influences both good and bad.

Must Make Choice

Many times during every school day the pupil comes to a fork in the road and many choices and decisions must be made. Fortunate indeed is the pupil who brings from home some deep laid principle that will help him to decide wisely.

Parents cannot send their children unprepared into such complex social surroundings and dismiss the matter from their minds and then expect that the school can perform the miracle of education. Between the parent and the teacher is a large wide open unsupervised field. It is here that many pupils get lost. If some one can formulate a plan by which parent and teacher can work in complete harmony and close co-operation the per cent of school failures can be greatly reduced.

Teachers Nation Builders

By MRS. FRANK PARR
President Colorado Parent-Teacher Association

The vision which our country's first citizens and leaders had for the development of a democracy is being understood and appreciated more every day. They realized that ignorance was the greatest obstacle to freedom and the most fruitful source of poverty, vice and crime. The expansion of an educational program from the small beginning of the local neighborhood school to our present great system of secondary education is indicative of the intention of the American people. Education should be the handmaid of citizenship.

The schoolhouse ought to be convenient, commodious, sanitary and well equipped, so that it may impress the scholars with an ideal. The tremendous improvement throughout our nation in school buildings shows our great interest.

The world today is so highly organized and so complex that our children are confused before the choices they must make. We are doing a great part in trying to help the young people in our country to find their life work and the way into it by our generous appropriations of money for the development of schools.

The main factor of the school is the teachers. They should be adequately prepared and feel their responsibility, and we should show our obligation to them by sufficient reward for their services, and by giving them the honor due them. They should help the children to form permanent, valuable habits of right living, right thinking and right doing, so that they may develop into citizens sound in thought and right in action. These citizens of tomorrow are under their direction at an age when they are most impressionable, so that the seriousness of the teacher's responsibility should be appreciated by them.

This basic relationship of education to citizenship is being recognized more keenly. Real progress, within the teaching profession must come from the teachers themselves. The great increase in the membership of our teachers' associations shows that the professional spirit of the teachers is truly awake.

Let us try to keep our faith in the future of our great country by continuing to appropriate money for teacher training institutions and for the support of the public elementary and high schools. We must constantly try to improve our standards by securing better trained teachers, by paying them adequately, and by promoting them on merit alone, so that our nation's greatest asset, our boys and girls, may become better developed citizens.

When Mother Placed Xmas Gifts In Attic

By FLORENCE HELLMAN
Doran School, B-6

It was in Christmas vacation that a little girl and boy were told to stay home, while their mother went down Christmas shopping. The girl's name was Nan, and the boy's name was Bert.

Nan said, "Let's go over to Jane's house and play." But Bert said, "No, mother said to stay at home until she gets home."

So they decided to play show in the attic. Nan said, "I'll go and 'phone Betty and Helen to come over while you go and clean the trunks and boxes out of the attic." Nan 'phoned the children to come over and bring their brothers and sisters, too.

In a few minutes the children came over and they all went up in the attic.

In one end of the attic there were some heavy trunks, and in the other end of the attic there were some boxes. The trunks were too heavy to carry, so the children moved the boxes just where they wanted them.

Bert found an old red sweater and pants, and an old red cap. So they decided to play Christmas. Bert was Santa Claus, Nan was the mother, Bobby, Helen's brother, was the little boy, and Frances, Betty's sister, was the little girl, and Tom and Grace, being too small to be in the play, were the audience.

Just as Bert was ready to come down the chimney with his bag full of toys, which was an old bag full of old shoes, they heard the front door slam. It was their mother, and as quick as a flash, they were behind boxes.

Their mother came up the stairs into the attic, she looked all around, and then she said, "I was sure I heard someone up here, but I guess I didn't." Then she went to the end of the attic, and put all the Christmas packages behind some boxes, and went downstairs without seeing the children.

The children had a narrow escape, and didn't go back to play show, but took their costumes off and went downstairs.

Saving In Foodstuffs One Way Of Thrift

By ROBERT ROGERS
Central Avenue School, A-5

What is thrift? It sometimes saves a family from starvation. Take for instance a poor housewife who studies what amount of substantial foods she can get for the smallest sum of money.

This housewife thinks she is doing well by doing this and getting the right foods. One night one of her boys eats only half a potato. She throws the other half into the garbage.

This family was soon wiped out of existence. Why? Because the housewife threw the other half potato away.

CHIC DINNER FROCK

PARIS, Nov. 19.—An interesting dinner frock is of black velvet with a rounded neck and the merest hint of sleeves. Its one trimming is a long and narrow front panel of chiffon, lightly but brilliantly embroidered with rhinestones, which falls straight from the neck to a point three inches below the hem.

The boll weevil first appeared in the United States in 1892.

Thrift Right Roadway To Reach Prosperity

By HELEN M'CORMICK
Wilson Intermediate, A-8

Thrift means saving. It does not mean to be stingy, miserly, or niggardly. Thrift is simply the economical management of affairs, or frugality.

There are many ways in which we can save. It does not mean saving of money alone. It means saving of clothes, school supplies, in fact we can save many things that we have, by careful management. We can save our clothes by not wearing our best for every day. We can save school supplies by being careful of our books.

Carelessness is often the cause of waste. Thrift means to be provident, so as to have means for future. If you are thrifty, you are usually prosperous. Thrift is the road to wealth. Thrift is the economical way of prosperity.

It is said that the American people waste enough food in a day to keep all Europe for a day. The ocean liners are so thriftless that some people on house boats make their entire living by scooping from the water what the ocean liners have thrown away from the cook's alley. The Japanese people particularly do this, as they are in such poor circumstances.

Our greatest waste, and what we should be the most thrifty of, is our time. It was the great Roman general, Titus, who on the evening of a certain day, said, "I have lost a day, when on that evening I am unable to recall any good deed I have done that day."

Our days are only twelve hours long and our nights the same. We must crowd all work and pleasure into fifteen hours, and the rest of our time we should use wisely for sleep to strengthen our bodies. Thus:

"Thrift is the best way in all ways to prosperity."

Makes Suggestion On Schools' Improvements

By ALVIN HAMMOND
Glendale Avenue, B-7

School prepares you for the coming part of your life. It suggests what road you will take. It keeps boys and girls out of mischief. Education is the making of a man or woman. One has to be educated if he expects to rise in the world. Education helps to bring a better salary for the educated. Your work is not hard if you use your education. If you are educated you can choose the kind of work you like, thus it is often a pleasure. One enjoys life with an education if it is used to credit. Knowing all these things I want to be educated. And I thank the Board of Education for spending so much money thus helping me to get my education.

I think that there are some things that would make school better.

I think that boys and girls should be allowed to choose their own studies, provided that they have their minds made up on what course they will take in the future. I think teachers should make inquiries on what course the children want to take and tell them what studies are necessary for the course. Good teachers, that's what all the children want. If the parents would take as much interest as the teachers do, it would be better for their children. I think if these suggestions were carried out the children as a whole would be better pleased and work harder.

HAT FOR RIDING

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Though some women cling to the derby when riding to hounds, and others still insist on the tall hat, the generally favorite headgear for these occasions is now the soft sports hat of velours. There is a deep shade of brown, with rolling brim, which is worn even with a black suit.

Men wear their hair long and women cut theirs short and dye it an auburn tint in the Samoan islands.

Education Week Big Aid To United States

By MARTHA FLEMING
Union High School, B-12

Next week is Good Education week in America, a week that will be devoted to stressing the need of an education and especially of a high school education. Many people, such as President Coolidge, Professor Schurman of Cornell, Dr. Elliott of Yale, faculty members of educational institutions, and a few other such savants believe that this week is an excellent thing for furthering education—in other words for training the mental faculties, for isn't that what education really means?

But, to be perfectly frank, I, as a senior in high school, fail to see the necessity of it; for why do we need our mental faculties trained? After having successfully culminated almost four years of hard drudgery and now at last having reached the pinnacle of our highest dreams and ambitions—the glorified state of being a senior—our mental faculties are already so trained (some, indeed, so overtrained) that the waste of a whole week to further education is a grave extravagance on the part of the aforementioned.

To train the mental faculties of a senior is to train the engine of a Ford to pull the Shenandoah around the world, so useless and ridiculous is it. For over eleven years of school we have been having our gray matter multiplied until it has finally reached such a stage of perfection that we are termed seniors. Yet a better education week is instituted.

But, of course, it is not for us, but for those other much-to-be-pitied mortals who are still climbing the golden ladder of education and whose mental faculties are still in the process of being trained. Therefore it is after all an excellent thing for the country. I'm sure that the president, the prominent educators and the teachers will find no more loyal supporters to the great cause than we far-seeing, wisdom-drenched seniors.

Reading Habit Helps To Secure Education

By LAWRENCE REYNOLDS
Union High School, B-11

The reading habit is divided into two parts, the good part and the bad part. We make reading a gain or a loss to us, depending on what we read and how we read it.

The greatest benefit we derive from reading is pleasure. We gain a store of facts and ideas that we can put to practical use. Reading gives us many truths and ideals which we can follow and look forward to. If we form the reading habit correctly, we gain in our ability to think, to appreciate, and to express ourselves with a greater variety of words.

If we make the reading habit a bad one, we do not benefit in the ways that have just been mentioned. Reading incessantly is a loss of time and energy. Our lives are short and we should not spend time in constant reading. Reading rapidly, by skipping that which isn't interesting and only reading a small portion of each page, impairs our memory and our ability to think clearly. There are books of all types. If we read trashy fiction, we degrade our character and make the reading habit our worst evil.

To have the reading habit a benefit, we should keep good company. To read a book a month, being sure to vary our reading, will benefit us. Let us keep a record of what we read, in order to be able to know which books we liked or disliked. We should own as many good books as possible. They make good companions.

Dangers Of Smoking Presented By Writer

By ROBERT FISCH
Colorado School, B-5

It is very important to watch careless smokers.

There were two men who went up into the mountains. One was smoking a cigarette. When he was through with it he threw it away. It landed in a clump of dry grass.

"Oh, don't do that," the other man said. "Never throw a burning cigarette away."

"Oh, I don't care," said the man who had thrown the cigarette away. The other man went back and put out the smoking cigarette.

He saved a forest from being destroyed.

Which man would you like to be? I would like to be the one who was not smoking.

The man who saw the carelessness of his friend wrote the following rules for safety while smoking:

Watch the careless smoker; notice where he throws matches, cigars and cigarettes when he has finished with them.

Stamp out any sparks you may see.

Report all violations of "no smoking" rules and warn people of the danger.

Give people special and emphatic warning against the danger of smoking in bed.

Aged Man Discovered Asleep In River's Bed

An old man, burdened with years and infirmities, was brought to police headquarters yesterday afternoon on request of neighbors, who said he had been sleeping in the Los Angeles river bottom for the last two months, and was too ill to endure the cold, damp nights of winter.

The man gave his name as Frank Reed, but declined to say what had brought him to this condition, nor would he mention the names of any friends or relatives with whom the police might communicate. He was consequently sent to the Los Angeles county hospital, on the advice of Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer.

FLOOD PLANS STIRRING CHAMBER

C.C. Directors' Meeting Last Night Stormy Session; Reconvene Friday

The presence of Councilman S. A. Davis at the Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting last night produced an argument on flood control plans that at times grew stormy, and brought forth some sizzling sallies.

It was finally decided to hold a special meeting 7:30 o'clock Friday night, November 21, and to invite Virgil B. Stone, city manager, and Edward M. Lynch, a prominent engineer living in Glendale, to outline the project in detail and pass their opinions on which plan to adopt.

"There has been pernicious work on the part of some individuals of the Chamber of Commerce, on this tunnel matter," declared Councilman Davis. "I don't think a few men have the right to poison the minds of the Glendale City Council and the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors on a project that is next in importance to the $1,600,000 sewer now under way in this city."

"Were Not Informed"

"We go into these things with our eyes and minds open," retorted President W. E. Hewitt of the chamber. "I agree it is one of the biggest things Glendale has ever had to consider. We aren't trying to put any fly in the ointment and we aren't trying to throw any monkey-wrench into the machinery. The trouble is we weren't informed on this thing."

"Well, anyway, some members of the Chamber of Commerce have double-crossed the council," insisted Councilman Davis.

"No one double-crossed the council," denied President Hewitt, hotly. "We acted in good faith, for the best interest of the city."

"Maybe you did—but you spilled the beans, just the same!" cried the councilman.

"Erred Innocently"

It was at this point that R. F. Kitterman poured oil on the troubled waters of the flood control problem by interjecting:

"Men may honestly differ in their positions. If this chamber erred last Monday night, in authorizing a committee to take such steps as might be necessary to secure the best protection against flood waters for Glendale, it erred innocently."

President Hewitt then suggested that James W. Reagan, chief engineer of the Los Angeles county flood control board, be invited to address the Chamber of Commerce, explaining in detail the various angles of the plan to spend approximately $450,000 in

TREE DAY TO BE HELD AT HOSPITAL

Program to Mark Ceremonies On Sanitarium Grounds; Public Is Invited

Citizens of Glendale interested in tree planting and reforestation will have an opportunity to join the national celebration of tree planting day through an invitation issued by officials of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Under the direction of Mrs. Daisy D. Harris, superintendent of nurses at the sanitarium, a tree planting program has been arranged for Thursday afternoon. Trees presented by the alumni association and each of the three present classes of the nurses' training school, a number of doctors and many of the guests at the sanitarium, will be planted on that day with appropriate ceremonies.

Glendale citizens wishing to join in the observance are cordially invited by J. A. Burden, sanitarium manager. All those wishing to donate trees can either have them sent to the sanitarium grounds some time previous to the ceremonies or bring them with them Thursday afternoon. All gifts of trees or shrubs will be gratefully accepted, Mr. Burden said, and will be used to beautify the sanitarium grounds.

The following program will take place, starting at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, to which the general public is invited: Tree Planting Song (tune of "America"); reading "America for Me," by Mrs. Daisy D. Harris; vocal solo by Mrs. Nellie Ocks; history of trees already planted, by George Smith, sanitarium gardener; poem, "Trees," by Marguerite Brown; planting of trees; dedication of trees and address, by Chaplain R. W. Munson; songs, "Joy for the Sturdy Trees," by the audience; benediction, by J. A. Burden.

The tree planting program will take place inside the main gate of the sanitarium grounds off Richland avenue.

Move Into New Quarters

P. R. MACHTOLF, left, and R. F. DOLL, proprietors of the electrical firm which bears their names, have opened a new and larger store at 1109 South Brand boulevard to take care of their increasing business. The firm was formerly located at 1013½ South Brand boulevard.

Many floral pieces sent by Los Angeles wholesale houses and Glendale friends marked the opening of the new Machtolf-Doll Electric Co. store, 1109 South Brand boulevard. The firm recently closed out its old stock at 1013½ South Brand boulevard and opened the new store with an entirely new stock.

This is visitors' week at the store and every Glendalian is invited by P. R. Machtolf and R. F. Doll, members of the firm, to visit the new building. Each caller will be given a ticket entitling him to a chance on a decorated lamp and an Edison electric percolator. The drawing will take place Saturday night, but contestants need not be present to participate in the awards.

The Machtolf-Doll Co. is just two years old, but already has made rapid strides in Glendale's commercial life. Both Mr. Machtolf and Mr. Doll were in business in Glendale before forming the present firm and have a host of friends.

Woman Turns Poetic to Aid Church Endeavorers

Cleverness of women of the Glendale Presbyterian church in earning money for their organization, was revealed yesterday in an original poem read by Mrs. R. I. Colquhoun of 740 South Glendale avenue, at the women's meeting in the church. Each woman had been asked to earn a dollar, and tell how she earned it. Mrs. Colquhoun told of her success in the following poem:

When we start upon life's journey
From the cradle to the grave;
We are urged to get the money,
Yet we're seldom taught to save,
Kings of finance in all nations
Who have "thrift" as middle name,
Say "Anyone can earn a dollar"
While saving is another game.

Some wise man with keen perception
Quite mathematically turned,
Has figured out this simple problem,
"A dollar saved, is a dollar earned"
At the church, where I'm a member
With obligations to fulfill,
'Twas decided that each woman
Must earn and give a dollar bill.

So I scratched my head and wondered
Why, on earth, I'd been so dense,
For a scheme lay plain before me
How to get that hundred cents,
My dear hubby in profession
Many banquets does attend
Some of which, I claim, are needful,
Others, not so, I contend.

So I watched my chance and picked one,
At a dollar fifty per,
Where I knew he wasn't needed,
And I loved him like a "burr",
Just to have him save the money
Spend the time, that evening home,
Yes, it worked, and how I tricked him
Is related in this poem.

Why eat at one dollar fifty
Where style and service make the cost?
I gave my "hubby" fifty cents' worth,
And saved this dollar, he'd have lost.

Canadian Club Plans Dance Tomorrow Night

MAYOR WILL MOVE TOWN TO HIGHWAY

Desert Center's Continued Growth Depends Upon Good Roads

S. A. Ragsdale, mayor, city clerk, chief of police, postmaster, service station operator and owner of Desert Center, a small town, half way between Mecca and Blythe, is preparing to move the town to another site, according to information received by The Glendale Evening News.

This removal, Ragsdale explained, is a necessary expedient to assure the continued growth and prosperity of Desert Center.

Town to Road

Traffic through the town will be diverted to the Mecca-Blythe road, recently acquired for maintenance by the highway commission. Instead of moving the road through Desert Center, Ragsdale will, like Mahomet, move the town to the road.

Improvement of the Mecca-Blythe road by the highway commission will mean a shorter route from central Arizona to the coast, diverting traffic from the road now running through Desert Center. It is Ragsdale's plan to move the town to some point on the Mecca-Blythe road—a point, preferably, where motorists are apt to be out of gas, oil and water.

The new site of the town will be selected within a few weeks, it is expected. The land under consideration is privately owned.

Chiropractor Wants to Do His Bit for Chest

Editor, The Evening News:—To show my willingness to do my bit during this Community Chest week, I will begin today and continue till January 1, 1925, to hold a free chiropractic clinic at my home for all children under 12 years, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 3 till 5 p. m. For more than sixteen years I have practiced this science, during which time I have helped thousands regain normal health, and I know of nothing that will help children regain normal health and activity as quickly, when intelligently applied. Now, parents, it will be my pleasure to help you get your boys and girls lined up on the road to good, keen, vigorous health. Bring them to 1250 South Maryland avenue.

CITY STUDIO PLANS MAP OF WORLD

J. T. Edwards Firm Starts Work on Giant Relief Plan of Our Sphere

The fame promised Glendale and J. T. Edwards Studios, located within the city boundaries at 5100 San Fernando road, when the great relief map of California, built here, is unveiled at the Ferry building, San Francisco, tomorrow, is not destined to be the last attained by the studios.

Today, on the eve of the unveiling of the great model at San Francisco, J. T. Edwards, world-known geographical modeler, announced that he will commence work on one of the most spectacular maps ever planned. The model, to be an international map of the world, in relief, will be completed by 1926 and will be on exhibition at the Sesqui-Centennial celebration at Philadelphia in that year.

The new map of the world will exceed the California model in size by over 10,000 square feet. It will be made entirely at the Glendale plant, Mr. Edwards announced, and all notices, copyrights and publicity in every part of the world will bear the name of Glendale.

World in Relief

The huge model will be designed to enable the public to visualize at a glance the importance of intercommunication and trade between all countries of the world. Visitors to the Philadelphia centennial celebration will be able to walk the full distance around the mammoth display and will thus be given an excellent idea of the vast network of railroads and steamship routes which connect the continents of the globe.

The map will show the future possibilities of both sea and air, international boundaries, types of government, cables and telegraph, radio stations, hydro-electric concentrations, navigable rivers and canals, volcanoes, climate and seasons, explorations and discoveries, exports and imports and a hundred other interesting features. Special mechanical devices will show meteorological phenomena, storms, high and low pressure and how the winds tend toward the center.

This international geographical model, based on the same scale as the millionth map, will teach a lesson in physical geography that has never before been attempted, it is believed.

Niche In Mausoleum to Be Dedicated to Ahret

For the dedication of the niche in the mausoleum at Forest Lawn Memorial park, Glendale, which has been prepared to receive the special urn containing the ashes of Arnold Ahret, former president of the Naturopathic association of America, who died last year, a large number of the members of that organization, now holding a convention in Los Angeles, will attend services in the Little Church of the Flowers at Forest Lawn on Friday next at 2 p. m. The urn of bronze, which is to rest upon a marble base is unusual in character, having been cast in the form of an acorn, the left side of the acorn showing, in full relief, the profile of the deceased.

Daily Greeting to News Readers

THE WORLD IS READY—
To reward the man who can satisfy an old want in a new way.
To worship the one who promises a cure for worry.
To respect the woman who puts principle above popularity.
To listen to the man who tells us what we already believe.
To ignore the man who thinks he is indispensable.
To disappoint the people who think it owes them a living.
To patronize the firm that serves its customers better.

THE MARKETING PROBLEM

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, is advocating a rather radical step with regard to cooperative marketing of fruits and other produce. He proposes to seek government aid in forcing growers of specialized produce into cooperative associations, and he believes that all of the producers of one special product of the soil should be associated in one organization. It is his theory that only through 100 per cent cooperation can the growers force a change in the marketing situation so that a greater voice in the fixing of the product will be in the hands of the producers.

Hoover declares that California experience has demonstrated that the cooperatives can adequately carry their transactions only up to the terminal markets, and that wholesale and retail distribution from that point must rest in the hands of the individual distributors. He would establish a federal marketing board which would establish a strict standard of product and force the independents into membership and thus compel them to share in the costs of advertising the products.

There is no question but that the marketing of food products involves many difficult problems that demand immediate solution, and that there is a crying need of some system that will eliminate some of the complications of transportation and price fixing. Hoover's plan may be a good one, but it is doubtful if he can put it into effect without a hard fight with the independent growers. It is a question whether it is right to coerce the people in a matter of this kind. It is generally conceded that government regulation is too prevalent now.

AUTO BREEDS DISCOURTESY

The use of the automobile seems to be encouraging discourtesy among us, and not alone on the highway, where we are apt to take more than our share of the road and let the other look out for himself.

Where is the old-fashioned beau who, when he took his lady out riding, hitched his horse in front of her domicile, went to the door to notify her he had arrived (although she was probably watching him from some convenient peep-hole all the time) and finally assisted her from the house and into the behicle?

He has been replaced by the modern young man who drives up in his flivver or his high priced roadster or coupe. No matter what the class or the price of the vehicle the procedure is the same. He honks for the girl, and if she is not quite ready he keeps on honking until she makes her appearance. She comes running out of the house, goes around to the far side of the car and climbs in unassisted.

The healthy girl doesn't need assistance into a car. She would scorn it, and the young man knows it. It is well to have outgrown artificial politeness of this kind. But, the custom of honking and tooting to attract the attention of someone in the house is an atrocious one, and it is not only discourteous to the one whose attention is desired, but it is an imposition upon everyone who resides in the block.

OUR GREAT PRESIDENTS

The Hemet News deplores the fact that we have had few intellectual men for presidents. Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Roosevelt and Wilson are the only outstanding Americans to have gained the presidency, according to the News, which goes on to say, "Hamilton, Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Marcy, Tilden, Blaine, Davis—all gave way to inferiors because of political conditions that bred distrust of real ability and willingness to serve. Nationally we are Main street. We are jealous of intellectuals. We penalize crusades made in the name of patriotism and honesty. Geography and pet phrases that bear no logical analysis take the place of calm deliberation and calm selection. And, thus we drift until a real crisis comes, and then, almost providentially, we reach out in the darkness and grasp a Lincoln or a Wilson."

And that is what a majority of the people of the United States believe has just happened. We had drifted into a crisis and we reached out and providentially grasped a man who is able to understand our needs and lead us safely for the next four years. Perhaps he is not an intellectual, but so few of us are intellectuals. So many of us live on Main street we should have a Main street president. Intellectuality and idealism are good qualities for a president to have, but he must be practical, also.

VETERANS PARADE

Paris had an Armistice day parade, according to news reports. Twenty-five thousand men marched across the Concorde bridge to the French foreign office on November 11, just six years after that memorable day when Paris went wild. These men marched, did we say? Rather, they hobbled as best they could, on crutches, some with sightless eyes, leaning upon the wheel chairs of their legless comrades, a few on stretchers, but not a man whole as he was when he entered the war. Can you imagine twenty-five thousand blind, crippled, armless, shell-torn bodies all in one line of misery? And, Paris, the same Paris that was mad with joy six years ago, stood by and wept.

Physically sound young men in natty uniforms, stepping briskly to the music of the band, do not show war in its true colors. Such a parade as Paris saw the other day is the real picture of war.

IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

Argentine and Brazil, the two countries toward which immigration has turned since the passage of the Johnson law by the United States Congress, are already beginning to learn the danger of immigrants who are not loyal and sympathetic, and from whom intelligent citizens cannot be made. These countries have eagerly welcomed foreign laborers because they have vast areas of land needing development, just as the United States did some years ago, and as some advocate doing now. But, Argentine, it is said, has already learned the lesson that immigration is a social as well as an economic matter, that the immigrant may be worth a great deal in muscle and energy, and at the same time a great liability in his attitude toward our national life and our institutions. In building a nation there are more things to be considered than food production.

Many, for the lack of brass, have missed their golden opportunity.

Whatever we may say of the stork, he delivers the goods.

As a man thinketh so old is he.

AFTER YOU, MY DEAR ALFONSO!

Corncobs

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Some twenty millions tons of corncobs, in the United States, are going to waste.

Frederick B. LaForge and Gerard Mains of the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, and O. R. Sweeney, head of the chemical engineering department of Iowa State college for Engineering Foundation, are responsible for the statement that science has found a way to avoid this waste.

The Foundation says that chemists and engineers appear to have opened a path to new industries based on waste products, which deals with the discovery of new processes for making the corncobs commercially available and reveals their value.

Already one county in Missouri raises large crops of a certain kind of Indian corn because its large cobs make good tobacco pipes. Some cobs are burned as fuel on farms.

Maple sugar flavor is made by boiling cobs with water. Meat smoked with cobs has a flavor said to be better than that from hickory. And there are many other uses.

The Iowa State college is now investigating a product from cobs of furfural, oxalic and acetic acids, wood alcohol, charcoal, pitch, tar oils, cob flour, incense, punk and fermentation products.

A special use is proposed in the manufacture of briquettes from the fine sizes of anthracite. This utilization of waste cobs would enhance the value of waste coal. Besides this, there is a promising field in the manufacture of resins similar to Bakelite, suitable for printing plates and various other molded articles.

The phenol furfural resins extracted from the cobs are infusable and insoluble. They have high insulating qualities, great strength and great resistance to water and chemicals. They have a large field in radio equipment. Phonograph records may be made from them.

As they have great toughness and resistance, there are numerous uses for fibre impregnated with these resins.

Advance in business is largely confined to the utilization of waste products and if some way can be devised to use the waste corncobs it would be of immense value to the country.

Horoscope

Good and evil influences conflict today, according to astrology. While Venus and Jupiter are in benefic aspect, the Sun and Neptune are adverse.

At this time there is an especially favorable sign for theatres and those who contribute to their art and their success.

It is a favorable role for all sorts of social gatherings and for the lighter phases of entertainment.

They who wed today may be sure of great prosperity, but they should beware of all inclination toward secretiveness or deceit.

Women are well directed while this configuration prevails and may be sure of proper recognition in any business or professional matter.

This should be a most auspicious rule under which to start any new business or to make any unusual speculative venture.

The winter is to bring about many extraordinary situations in the commercial world, some of which will be good and others quite the opposite.

It is well to avoid decisions of far-reaching significance while this sway is strong. The wise will pursue the course formerly laid out.

Long-standing jobs and tasks much dreaded should be performed at this time, for thus freedom of the mind is assured for future activities.

Throughout this month invigorating solar currents will be marked in their effect and it is well to exercise out of doors as much as possible.

A London astrologer who has cast the horoscope of the Prince of Wales finds that Venus does not reach the conjunction of the Sun and the trine of the Moon for another four years, so that his marriage may not be expected for some time.

There is a sign that is interpreted as denoting activity in army and navy circles in the next thirty days.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of rather an exciting year in which they should guard against losses.

Children born on this day probably will be well-conducted and efficient. Girls born under this sign of Scorpio make good nurses. Both boys and girls are likely to have talents and many sterling qualities.

Who's Who

The new senator Kentucky sends to Washington to succeed A. O. Stanley, veteran Democratic politician, had never held any political office until the recent election gave him a senate seat.

He is Fred M. Sackett of Louisville. He is a Republican, a leading business man of his home city and an uncompromising "dry."

Sackett was born December 17, 1868, at Providence, R. I., and went to Louisville, twenty-five years ago to practice law, having been graduated in law at Brown and Harvard. However, he became engaged in the coal and cement business affairs and amassed a comfortable fortune.

His wife was Miss Dorothy Speed, society girl of Louisville.

Sackett was indorsed by the State Women's Christian Temperance Union and was backed by the state dry forces. He long ago declared himself an uncompromising dry.

He served as federal food administrator for Kentucky during the World war.

Today's Poem

ITALIA IO TI SALUTO

To come back from the sweet South, to the North—
Where I was born, bred, look to die;
Come back to do my day's work in its day,
Play out my play—
Amen, amen, say I.

To see no more the country half my own,
Nor hear the half-familiar speech,
Amen, I say; I turn to that bleak North
Whence I came forth—
The South lies out of reach.

But when our swallows fly back to the South,
To the sweet South, to the sweet South.
The tears may come again into my eyes,
On the old wise,
And the sweet name to my mouth.
—Christina Georgina Rossetti.

The Glendale Presbyterian football team journeyed to Burbank this afternoon for a game with the villagers.

Among the violin pupils of Julius Kranz, who appeared in recitals Saturday, were Arthur Campbell, Elwood Ingledue, Daniel Campbell and Winifred Jones.

The Glendale Laundry has nearly forty people on its payroll, which amounts to $500 a week. The successful business of the laundry is largely due to the keen judgment of the manager, W. E. Hewitt.

JUST A SOCIABLE GAMBLE

A stranger from the East, pockets bulging with money, meandered into the back room of Red Peter's place in Scarlet Gulch, where the boys were indulging in a quiet poker festival.

Wishing to impress the small townsmen with a regular guy's idea of what poker playing was, he produced a large roll of bills and demanded a stack.

"It's just a sociable little game, stranger," remarked Yukon Jake, "but I reckon we kin let you in. How much you want?"

"About a thousand dollars' worth," replied the moneyed one airily.

Raking in the one grand and without missing a turn of the cards, the dealer ordered his assistant:

"Give him a white one."

FORE

Nurse: "Whom are they operating on today?"

Orderly: "A fellow who had a golf ball knocked down his throat at the links."

"And who's the man waiting so nervously in the hall? A relative?"

"No, that's the golfer. He's waiting for his ball."

WHY REFUSED

Roommate: "So your father refused to send you money? I suppose he's forgotten that he spent money when he went to college?"

Blinks, Jr.: "Not a bit of it. And he hasn't forgotten what he spent it for, either."

WHAT THE FLIER NEEDS

(From the Continental Edition of the London Mail)

How many persons of one's acquaintance could become competent airplane pilots? The average individual may learn to drive a motor car in a tolerable manner; but would even 5 per cent of the British population, aided by the best tuition, learn to control the flight of an airplane at the present time

The air is such an unstable medium that flying can scarcely be a popular art for many decades. An intending flier must possess the birdman's physique and temeprament; he needs alertness and resourcefulness of mind.

Delicacy of touch, which gives the pilot complete mastery of his airplane and conveys the "feel" of the machine to his brain in time to correct a sideslip or a "stall" is the gift of nature alone. So are eyes that can judge speed and distance with unerring accuracy. By the latter qualifications the novice learns both to "take off" his machine and make a safe landing.

Navigation is a science. Before a cross-country flight the pilot ascertains the velocity of the wind. He then calcuates its approximate strength at the height which he has chosen for his flight, say 2000 feet. The velocity at this height is just about double the velocity of the wind on the ground. It also blows in a slightly different direction and the pilot must allow for this "veering angle." He then obtains the mean compass bearing to his objective after adding or deducting the angle which represents the force of the wind.

Clouds envelop an airplane in a steamy fog. They should be dodged when possible, because the pilot can not trust his sense of balance—the "bumps" upset that. He depends on the indicating instruments alone. Hail or rain is very unpleasant and may damage the propeller. When the sun is low on the frontal horizon the pilot finds it very hard to see.

Year by year difficulties are surmounted. Perhaps designers will evolve a machine which has the self-righting properties of a lifeboat. Safety at slow speeds must be obtained and the controls must be simplified before the man in the street can expect to fly.

A motorist may commit many glaring mistakes during his apprenticeship, but the learner in an airplane knows that his first slight error may cause his death.

TAX PROBLEM INTRIGUES LEADERS

Administrative Tactics Are Blamed For Attack On Possible Revision

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The tactics of the Coolidge administration have left open the door to insurgent Republicans and Democrats to press for a revision of the tax laws at the December session of congress. The administration is making it plain that the present law should be permitted to operate and no changes undertaken until after July, 1925, but already some of the leaders who have returned say congress will not be bound by such a policy.

Just at the moment the administration is aware of the hostile elements in congress and prefers to let things alone until the new house and senate come into power in December, 1925. But the opposition party in congress is sure to take the initiative instead and although a bill drawn by a coalition of insurgent Republicans and Democrats still could be vetoed by the president and probably fail of passage over his veto, the political consequences of such an act would weigh heavily with those responsible for blocking taxing reform.

Surtax Problem

The truth of the matter is the administration is fearful it can accomplish very little in the reduction of high surtax rates with the present congress. In other words the treasury's idea of tax reform which has been accepted by the president,is that a scientific revision is one which affects the larger incomes and stimulates business.

The insurgent Republicans and Democrats, in fact a substantial majority in both houses, took the other viewpoint at the last session and they are going to take that same viewpoint again, namely, that government finances reveal a surplus and this should be determined so that people with small incomes should get the benefit of it.

One factor which has been introduced into the situation and which probably was not foreseen by the administration was the impression made by the publicity of tax returns. Congress has been showing a tendency in recent years to get after the persons of large incomes so that more taxes might be collected and the burdens of the numerous small taxpayers relieved.

Political Capital

Political capital was made in the last session of congress out of that theory of taxation and the present tax law is the direct result. While some reduction was given to persons of large income, the benefit of the surplus was really bestowed on the several million taxpayers who earn less than $10,000 a year.

Under the circumstances, the administration is harly disposed to take the initiative and will prefer to remain on the defensive. But the opposition party will not be content to accept such a policy and if it were for no other reason than to appear before the public as much more interested in the small taxpayer than is the adminstration, the effort would be made to revise the law regardless of how successful it might be.

Question of Tactics

Had the administration, on the other hand, taken the offensive and presented its Mellon plan once more with an argument for revision along scientific lines so as to remove from the small taxpayer the indirect burdens imposed upon him by a system of inequitable taxation, there would have been built up a case for veto of any alternative tax plan. It is a serious question of tactics whether the administration will be able to maintain its position without at least acquiescing in the introduction by administration leaders of a 25 per cent horizontal cut. It will not be necessary to wait until July, 1925, to know just what the estimated government receipts and expenditures will be and a horizontal cut will probably be urged upon the administration by some of its own friends in congress.

All that can be said at the moment is that the statements issuing from authoritative quarters, declaring there will be no tax revision recommended is confined only to the executive branch of the government and is no index of what congress will do or at least try to do.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Of utmost importance to Glendale at the present moment is the conference to be held on nine highway plans affecting this city.

One cannot realize what highways mean unless they traverse those three crowded paths of ingress and egress to Los Angeles daily.

Glendale boulevard is crowded beyond all capacity. The bridge across Los Angeles river is obsolete. Los Feliz boulevard will have a new bridge, but the indirect route to the city proper and the steep grade over Hollywood hills does not hold forth much hope of it ever solving any major traffic problem. San Fernando road needs repaving and widening. It also needs paralleling by a truck highway.

And that is not enough. Two more direct highways into Los Angeles should be built if Glendale is not to be throttled. Links to Riverside drive should be built when that boulevard is made available.

We have highways to build between Glendale and Los Angeles. The sooner the better.

Illionis is forging to the front with pavements. It has voted another $100,000,000 bond issue to complete a network of cement and stone roads that will give the farmers easy access to market.

Indeed, Illinois, covering much less space than California, will have more paved roads than this Golden Bear state by January 1, 1925, it is stated by eastern newspapers.

It might be wise for the California Highway commission to suggest something radical by way of highway improvement in California.

For shame to think that not ONE transcontinental link has been completed, with thousands of tourists coming here by motorcar.

The highway commission is not to blame, particularly. The public should demand, and pay for, a half-dozen highways to the border, and even assist Arizona and Nevada, if necessary, in bringing these potential settlers safely to our gates.

Governor Richardson has the choice of a boxing commission swamped with applications. And it is too bad the commission was not in power at the Fulton flop at Culver City, when Tony Fuente, Windy Windsor's boy, didn't even hit him a good rap before the plasterer took the count and $7500, it is said.

Fulton and Windsor need to stand trial. Fuente needs to be put into a ring with the best fighter available and have anything that's coming to him. A good licking would do him good. His manager wouldn't need to stage another fiasco.

And that's that.

HARVEST STORIES TOLD AT LIBRARY

Mrs. J.B. Rhodes Uses Quaint Old Spinning Wheel as Children Listen

Stories of harvest time were pleasingly told yesterday afternoon during the story hour in the juvenile department of the public library by Mrs. J. B. Rhodes of the Emerson School of Self-Expression. Interest of the children centered around a quaint old spinning wheel Mrs. Rhodes had secured from a friend for exhibition.

Another feature of the hour was a colorful poster, made by Mrs. Rhodes to tell of the approach of Thanksgiving. So enjoyable was the story hour that Mrs. Rhodes is to give a Thanksgiving program next Wednesday afternoon, at the library. On that day she will feature some clever corn husk dolls.

Mrs. R. W. Cleghorn told the stories on Monday, and today Mrs. C. Uhlenbrock was in charge. The program for the remainder of the week is: Thursday, 3:15 to 4:15 o'clock, for children up to 10 years of age; Mary Margaret Davies entertaining; Friday, 3:15 to 4:15 o'clock, children up to 10 years of age, Miss Bessie Long entertaining; Saturday, 2 to 3 o'clock, older children, Mrs. Martha Hunter entertaining. Those telling stories are from the Emerson School of Self-Expression.

Triangle Realty Firm Occupies New Offices

The Triangle Realty Co., until recently located at 400½ South Brand boulevard, has moved into more commodious quarters at 402 East Broadway, with an augmented sales force and plans made for an extensive subdivision campaign commencing the first of the year.

The Triangle Co. was formed in January, this year, with several members of the firm, but at this time Mrs. E. M. Larson is sole owner. Associated with her is C. E. Brown, who was well known as a subdivider in Madelia, Minnesota, his former home. Mr. Brown is now manager of the sales force. Others in the organization are A. G. Larson, J. J. Ryan and Mrs. Helen Redmond. The sales force can not be excelled. Mr. Brown is very enthusiastic over the business outlook in Glendale and says the subdivision the Triangle Co. expects to put on the market within the next sixty days will be a surprise to the people of Glendale. Improved and unimproved city property is also handled.

Our motto is "Honesty, Ability, Success," Mr. Brown stated.

Mr. Renfrew also announced the next meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce will be held Tuesday night in the new Verdugo City Community house, starting at 7 o'clock. H. S. Ryerson, secretary of the traffic commission and Henry Wright, supervisor of the fifth district, will be the principal speakers. H. N. Fake Medical Ad Gets Investigator Customer

Thomas C. Clanin pleaded guilty to a violation of the advertising section of the medical practice act here before Justice of the Peace Harry W. Chase in Burbank township court on Monday. He was given a sixty-day suspended sentence with two years' probation.

According to Albert Carter, agent for the State Medical board, Clanin advertised in a newspaper (not The Glendale Evening News) to the effect that he would give treatments after free consultation for numerous diseases listed in the ad. He told Agent Carter that his advertising had brought no response, other than the investigator, and it was his intention to sell any "patients" a Renulife Violet ray machine, for which he claimed agency. His address was a room in a local hotel, according to the report on file in Los Angeles.

Governor Makes First Comment on Fight Bill

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—Stating that while "I am trying to attend to important state business, I am at times groggy from encounters with patriotic disciples of the alleged manly art," Governor Richardson today issued a statement regarding the situation.

"The law softly calls the commission an athletic one, the newspaper boys call it a boxing commission, but really it is a prize fight commission," he said.

The governor, continuing to discuss the situation in an ironic vein, declined to say anything about the possibility that a minister may be a member of the board which will supervise ten and twelve round boxing contests following the adoption of an initiative by the electorate at the recent election.

REPUBLICANS TRYING OUT BUTLER

Campaign Manager's Ability In Senate May Pave Way To Bigger Things

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—What will William M. Butler's position be in the United States Senate? Will he be the the administration spokesman, the man to whom those seeking a point of political contact with President Coolidge will flock?

Certainly no other manager has gone to the Senate in recent years immediately after a successful campaign. Nor has any chairman of the Republican national committee been sitting in the upper house though to be sure Cordell Hull has been in the House of Representatives during his term of office as chairman in the Democratic national committee.

There is no precedent by which to gauge the future. But certain things may be taken for granted. In the first place, the appointment of Mr. Butler by the governor of Massachusetts is no mere fulfillment of presidential wishes. Mr. Butler has for some time been anxious to go to the Senate. He might have been the administration candidate in the Republican primaries this year when Speaker Gillettee was chosen to oppose the re-election of Senator Walsh. Mr. Butler, however, had taken hold of the pre-convention campaign of President Coolidge and gave up senatorial ambitions to stick with his chief. Whatever sacrifice was involved then has by the hand of fate been offset now by his appointment to office as the successor to the late Senator Lodge.

Butler Possibilities

Mr. Butler's vote getting capacity is the subject of some differences of opinion in New England as he is not the spectacular type. It may be before the next election is held to choose a successor to Senator Lodge in the regular way, Mr. Butler may be found in the cabinet.

Just now with the secretary of war, John W. Weeks, coming from Massachusetts, the president did not feel like violating custom by having two men in the cabinet from his own state. Mr. Weeks himself may determine to enter the senatorial race some day or to retire to private life, in which event Mr. Butler's entry into the cabinet might occur.

Time Will Tell

The whole thing will depend to some extent on Mr. Butler's experience in the Senate in the next year. His opportunities to rise to a position of commanding influence and power are just as great if not greater in the Senate than in the cabinet.

At the Republican national convention in Cleveland last June, Mr. Butler came into violent collision with the "Old Guard" by issuing orders and instructions, which, however, well intentioned, went against the grain of the veteran politicians. That experience may have discouraged him from essaying the role of political leader. For the sensitiveness of a few political chieftains in a national convention is a mere incident compared to the attitude of the modern senator toward anyone who plays the part of leader. Individualism has developed to such a point that it is doubtful whether an Aldrich of yesteryears could manage the present day senators.

Schoolboy Now

Senator Butler could not very well become an executive leader as he is new in Congress itself and like most newcomers would have to be going to school most of the time in Congressional practice. His speeches probably will be few for the same reason. Nevertheless like Will Hays and Harry Daugherty, the new senator from Massachusetts will be in constant touch with the White House on questions of appointment. No one knows as intimately the obligations incurred during a presidential contest than the campaign manager.

Other senators will find it convenient to consult Mr. Butler and to seek his co-operation. Were he disposed to play politics in the old-fashioned way dispensing offices to the constituents of those senators and members of the House who "played ball" and cooperated with the administration on legislation he could build up a position of personal power which in time would give him leadership without the title—a man behind the throne. It all depends on his own tact and discretion. And no one envies him the job of being the confidante of the administration, a senator and a former manager all at the same time.

Ultra futuristic musical compositions were included in the piano recital given last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse by Wesley Kuhnle, talented young Glendale pianist of 111 West Maple street. It was the second of a series of three recitals, presented by Mr. Kuhnle upon his recent return from study and travel abroad.

Last night's program was keenly anticipated by Glendale music lovers and Mr. Kuhnle's friends, because of his announcement that he would play two futuristic compositions by the California composer, Henry Cowell, his intimate friend. Before playing these two numbers Mr. Kuhnle gave a sketch of both, "The Voice of Lir" and "The Tides of Manaunan," stating that Edwin Hughes, concert pianist, was playing them in New York last night. These two compositions are not typical concert numbers, but are splendid examples of tone clusters.

Played first behind a screen they were accepted in a somewhat dazed manner by the audience. However, after the screen was removed to show the peculiar arm movement, in which the whole forearm is brought into play, striking about twenty-eight keys at once without discord, Mr. Kuhnle received well merited applause.

Noted Compositions

Mr. Kuhnle played with brilliance Beethoven's "Sonata, Opus 90" ("The Head and the Heart"), his shading and runs being extremely artistic. Another enjoyable group was the collection of "Twenty Short Dances" (Schube); while the Brahms number, "Ballade in D Minor" (Edward), "Ballade in B Minor" and "Rhapsodie in G Minor" was powerfully handled.

Chopin's "Waltz in A Flat Major" was given with an old world tone, its delicate beauty contrasting strongly with the futuristic numbers preceding it. "Marche Militaire" (Schubert-Tausig), always is a favorite. Mr. Kuhnle gave it with a clean cut military exactness full of rythm.

Mr. Kuhnle is one of the few young concert pianists who pays strict attention to the pedalistic side of music. It is therefore a joy to listen to his clever handling of the pedals while his skill in tone production and phrasing is truly gifted. The final recital of the series will be given by Mr. Kuhnle on the night of January 20, 1925, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

MEETING PLANNED FOR FRIDAY NOON

Members Women's Athletic Club to Hold Luncheon At Kopper Kettle

Mrs. J. H. Toal, president of the Women's Athletic club, has issued a call for the November luncheon meeting of the club, Friday, November 21, at 1 o'clock at the Kopper Kettle tea room, 328 North Brand boulevard. Reservations for the luncheon are being received by Mrs. N. C. Paine, Glendale 4117. Reservations can be made up to Thursday night, November 20.

At this meeting matters of importance to club members will be presented. Mrs. Toal states that those not able to attend the luncheon will be welcomed for the business meeting, beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

Such enthusiasm is being taken in the golf activities that Mrs. R. E. Corrigan, chairman, states that there is possibility of forming a third class to meet on the Griffith park course. The Monday group met at the park yesterday. There were over fifty women in attendance last night at the gymnasium class at Harvard High school. Tennis enthusiasts are to meet tomorrow morning on the MacPherson courts and in the afternoon on the Harrower courts. Mrs. E. L. Osborne, Jr., chairman of tennis, states there are a few openings in these groups. Mrs. Virginia Farr, chairman of hiking, is working out a schedule of hikes. Members of the executive board of the club will meet at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. J. H. Toal, on West Colorado street.

SHOE DECOLLETTE

LONDON, Nov. 19.—A recent fashion show proved that not only frocks but shoes will be very decollette. The return of the waistline is presaged by a belt of soft material and here and there by a flaring skirt of the old-time "belt" type.

NEWEST FILMS TO SHOW SEA SCENES

Producers Following Style Set By Frank Lloyd In His 'Sea Hawk'

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19.—From sex to sea the appeal of motion pictures is turning, according to the latest word from the film factories. It was Frank Lloyd with his "Sea Hawk" who proved that the audience likes to sit in a cozy theatre and imagine itself hanging over the rail of a buccaneer's barkentine.

Even "Peter Pan" went to sea recently and Betty Bronson and her supporting players had a most exciting time with the model of the sixteenth century ships missing rock after rock by the smallest margin in the Santa Barbara island channel.

Agnes Ayres, Pat O'Malley, et al, in 'Tomorrow's Love" sailed to San Diego and return with Director Paul Bern taking footage every knot.

Needs Seaman's Card

And "The Devil's Cargo" is at sea again, also, Victor Fleming and his Famous Players in a sailing clipper off the Southern California coast after having returned from a three weeks' trip up the Sacramento river via the Golden Gate. Raymond Hatton who is playing in the last two pictures simultaneously is going to apply for a seaman's union card.

That isn't half of it for Pola Negri is doing "East of Suez," while closer to the hearts of America will be Byron Morgan's latest thriller, "The Air Mail."

Heat prostration in California at this season, or any season for that matter, is unusual except under the glaring arc lights used on motion picture sets. To get the light and eliminate the heat Director Sam Wood at United Studios is using huge mirrors, it is reported.

Christmas Lists

Pat O'Malley has prepared a list of what not to buy for Christmas gifts. It includes: a carton of cigarettes for an old fashioned mother; pictures of the follies for father; a new dishpan for big sister; a safety razor for little brother; and a kiddie car for grandpa.

Helen Chadwick has discarded the lucky horseshoe for an old tire.

Milton Sills has become a stockholder in the Morrison Holding Co., of New York which will build a theatrical edifice in the metropolis.

COACHING STAFF IS WORKING HARD

Mentors Anxious to Get All Dynamiters In Trim for Season's Big Game

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Although the regular season is over the coaching staff of Glendale High is working its hardest putting the three championship teams through the stiffest kinds of practice. The heavyweights are leaving nothing undone and Coach Hayhurst expects to have his team in fine shape for the hard game with Van Nuys here Friday.

The Van Nuys boys have no second-rate outfit and will give the locals a real tussle. On the valley eleven are three men who tip the beam well over the two hundred pound mark. Two of these heavies are in the line and mess up all kinds of trick plays and line bucks when the ball comes their way.

The third member of this hefty trio is the fullback who hits the line like a steam-roller and boots the old pigskin in high spirals for an average of something like forty-five or fifty yards. One of the Van Nuys ends is a wonder. He is a small Japanese who is a deadly tackler, he will probably recall to the local fans Horii of last year's championship Glendale team.

Dynamiters' Lineup

The Dynamiters will probably line up in much the same way as they started against Covina and South Pasadena. Elmer Muff, who showed his wares in the Citrus game at the start of the season, may or may not get into the game. If he does he will possibly bark signals. Booker will most likely play right half as his kicking ability is essential to the team. Dick Ryan and "Droopy" Phillips will probably play left half and fullback, respectively.

Because of the long trip to San Bernardino most of the local fans will turn out on the local field to witness the Glendale-Long Beach fracas with the Class C teams. This game will be well worth the price of admission, both teams know their stuff and are capable of playing first-class football. Coach Wolfe, who handles the local tads, has put out a classy team. Last year his outfit was the runner up for the Class C championship of Southern California, being beaten by Long Beach, 27-0. Saturday Coach Wolfe expects his prodigies to revenge last year's beating.

NOVEL TRIMMINGS

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Trimmings have taken a sharply triangular trend. Fur is posed in a long inverted triangle on the back of the newest coat, and an odd, bead-trimmed triangular bit of cloth hangs from a point just above the hem on the front of many afternoon frocks.

SENDS GREETINGS AS DAYS PASSING

'Aunt Addie' Harter of The News Sunset Club, Is Honored by Letter

"Aunt Addie" Harter of 234 So. Jackson street, one of the dear old grandmothers belonging to The Glendale Evening News Sunset club had a very happy birthday recently. One of the greetings she received was from her cousin, Norman H. Goings, and she has asked The Glendale Evenings News to publish the letter in order that readers of The News may enjoy it. Mr. Goings writes:

"There is something very grand about age, the sunset of life. Childhood, the morning of life, when everything is mystery, and the future of life lies undiscovered; youth and middle-life, full of hope and aspirations and dreams and love; then age.

"Looking back through all these things and rejoicing in possession of a satisfied conscience and the joy of approbation of a 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant,' and with life's shadows reaching out to meet the dawn of eternal day, all these make your life today one of grandeur and sublimity.

Entertains Members

"We often speak of your activity, though maimed in body; your kindness, amid affliction; your patience, as you depend on others and your lovable character though separated from many you loved, by death and distance. We wish we could have a long talk with you, but at present we can only wish more anniversaries with all the blessings God's children are heir to."

"Aunt Addie" is one of the most interested members of the Sunset club. Although crippled and confined to her home and her bed much of the time, she has been able to entertain the club members and attend a few of the meetings, where she was heartily welcomed.

DEMOCRATS HOPE 1928 ANSWERS

McAdoo's Recurrent Talks on Prospects Lead Lawrence To Conclusions

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Hope springs eternal in the Democratic breast and nothing appears more significant than the recurrent talk of William G. McAdoo for 1928. Instead of accepting the defeat of Tuesday as a verdict for conservatism, the Democrats are regarding it is the result of their own bad tactics.

This has more than passing importance as a post mortem. It shows what the Democrats are likely to try to do next. For the more they examine the election returns the more they are convinced that La Follette was the cause of their defeat. Just as Roosevelt in 1912 proved the nemesis of the Republican party so La Follette without, perhaps, intending it assisted materially in placing a conservative in power.

Immediately after 1912, the Republicans, especially those who supported Roosevelt, saw the unwisdom of keeping the party divided and they reunited in 1916. Even Col. Roosevelt was so anxious to defeat the Democratic administration in 1916 that, despite the appeals of a staunch battalion of Bull Moosers, he refused to be a third party candidate again. Will Robert M. La Follette and his followers still stick to their plan of forming this winter a third party organization? The railroad brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor and the other groups which lent their support to La Follette now see that a continuance of their struggle against conservative doctrine will be futile unless they absorb the whole Democratic party or permit themselves to be absorbed by it.

Ohio, New York Win

There always is a momentum to the established parties. In both Ohio and New York where there were no outstanding third party candidates for governor, the Democratic candidates—Governor Donahey and Governor Smith—won out by comfortable majorities, notwithstanding the tremendous pluralities given Coolidge. In New York the vote given Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for governor, would have gone to Al Smith as in previous elections and the only lesson of the New York state contest is that Smith, if beaten, would have been able to attribute to some extent his defeat to the loss of the few votes that might otherwise have gone to him.

Labor stands at the close of this campaign defeated in its first serious attempt to back a presidential candidate. Friction inside labor's ranks throughout the campaign when so many of the leaders insisted on going to Davis indicates that some of the chieftains recognized that the La Follette campaign was merely dividing their own ranks.

McAdoo for 1928

The talk of McAdoo for 1928 may never mean his nomination. He will be sixty-four years old then and, as a rule, candidates for president do not win the nomination at that age, though La Follette's advanced age was not often talked about in the campaign. The mention of McAdoo does mean that the Democrats are already discussing the necessity of choosing a leader who will win for them the support of the voters who cast their ballots for La Follette, together with those who may at the end of four years want a change from Republican rule.

To the average man the mention of 1928 may seem premature and academic. But, unfortunately, it isn't. Members of Congress look far ahead politically and vote and act in respect to legislation with an idea of what will prove wise for 1926—the next Congressional election—and 1928, the next presidential contest. One-third of the membership of the Senate changes in two years, and the primary campaigns of some of these men will be on in a year and a half. If the Democrats decide to attempt a real coalition with the insurgent Republicans for the benefit of the next campaign they will lay their plans now.

Electoral Votes

While the Coolidge electoral vote came from the west as well as the east and even included some of the border states where conservatism is entrenched, the addition of the La Follette and Davis popular votes in the states west of the Mississippi river show that the margin for Coolidge would have been closer had these two parties combined than was the case. The Democratic opportunity doesn't seem to lie in the east. Nor would it appear that the labor vote in industrial centers in the east are of sufficient influence to win over the rural districts. La Folletteism made little impression on the farms of the eastern states.

Turning to the west it is apparent that not only did the Democrats in large numbers go over to the La Follette standard but that many Republicans went to the third party ticket. The big independent group of voters as a rule decides elections in the west. There is nothing to show that La Follette got a bigger slice of that group than President Coolidge.

All the Democrats can note from the results is that had they combined with La Follette or had there been nominated a Democrat who could have appealed to the La Follette faction the race would have been closer in the west and the south would have gone along as usual.

Under the circumstances the Republicans having gathered virtually all the conservatives. The next move in American politics will be an effort to make the Democratic party a liberal, if not ultra-radical opposition to the Republicans. And if they win converts in Congress these will come from western Republicans who think such a course conforms to the will of the west.

LETTUCE GROWER WANTS ICE PACK

Imperial Valley Planters Differ With Express Firm On Method

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—You may not differentiate between salad dressings, but would you have your lettuce leaves loose? Most people prefer the solid head of lettuce, Chef Francois of the Applesauce and Boloney hotels, insists.

It is all a mere matter of icing—icing the vegetables as they leave the torrid Imperial valley and other shipping points for their long haul to the consumer, particularly in the east. All a matter of icing whether they arrive hard, firm, crisp and choice or soft, wilted, rotten or spoiled.

Growers vs. Express

The growers in the Imperial valley on the one hand and the Pacific Fruit Express on the other are arguing over the ice. The former deem it necessary to "top the car" with a choice assortment of cracked ice, whereas the railroad's subsidiary thinks its refrigerating tanks will keep the load cool. And if it doesn't, they ask damages from the shippers for the ice melting and ruining the insulation, warping the wood, and so on. They propose to get the damages through a rate increase.

An amicable settlement is in sight for the Pacific Fruit Express wants the business, the growers want the ice and the public will likely pay for the difference next spring.

Federated Unions Urge New Labor Party Form

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Nov. 19.—Tonight the congregation of the Tujunga Community church will vote on the question of remaining independent and inter-denominational or affiliating with one of the established denominations. Should the vote be in favor of affiliation with some denomination the question of which denomination will be submitted for decision by the congregation.

This move has been in the minds of the leaders of the church for some time and follows a report of the state church federation which recommended affiliation, after a study of the situation in Tujunga. A committee from the federation made a special investigation for the purpose of making some recommendation and their report was read at a recent meeting of the Community church members.

Dr. Pasko, temporary acting pastor of the Community church, read the report of the federation committee and stated that a feeling of unrest, following the last annual meeting of the church board, had been felt among the membership because of the fact that there is no connection with any denomination. Excerpts from the report explain the action of the federation committee: "In view of the uniform policy of the State Church Federation and of advice given in many similar cases, we respectfully suggest to the Tujunga Community church that it seek affiliation with some denomination. That in case the church should vote to seek such affiliation, it express its preference as to the denomination."

Strube and Sweet, Roscoe lumber dealers, have opened a lumber yard at Carleton street near Michigan avenue. A complete line of lumber and building supplies will be carried by the new firm to meet the demand which they foresee in the district. Mr. Strube will manage the local yard while his partner manages the Roscoe business.

A meeting of the Tujunga Parent-Teacher association is being held today at the school house to develop plans for the coming benefit bazaar December 5. Ideas and contributions will be equally welcome to the association, the committee states. It is planned to hold a sale of articles suitable for Christmas gifts and also an entertainment and supper.

Thanksgiving services will be held by the Christian Science society of Tujunga at 10 o'clock November 27 in the Breidt building on Sunset boulevard.

Wright Oliver of North Wilson avenue recently went to New Mexico on a business trip.

Mrs. E. M. D'Aule was recently hostess to the Thimble club at her home. The club now consists of six members, Mesdames Morgan, Shaffer, E. E. Coulson, Thomas, Ortman and D'Aule.

Mrs. Charles Bradfield, daughter of Mrs. Etta Coulson, plans to join her husband in Portland next week.

H. D. Hicker, district superintendent of the Rehabilitation division of the State Board of Education, was a recent visitor in Tujunga, where his department has several students taking educational courses under his supervision.

Mrs. George Shaffer of Walnut drive recently entertained the Thimble club at an afternoon tea at her home.

Mrs. Louise Colby, formerly a teacher in the Tujunga school, is at present engaged in teaching in the high school at Santa Cruz.

Mrs. Wellington and daughter, Mrs. Howard Kelley, and Howard Kelley of Hollywood, visited friends in Tujunga Sunday. Mr. Kelley is a semi-pro baseball pitcher and made an enviable reputation with the Palms team.

Mr. and Mrs. Walden D. Fink of La Verne motored to Tujunga Sunday to spend the day wieh friends.

Celery crop of California for this year totaled nearly 3500 carloads.

Permanent roads are a good investment —not an expense

Now is the Ideal Time to Build More Paved Highways

There is not a single community in the United States that does not need a greater mileage of permanently paved roads.

16,000,000 motor vehicles are now using our highways for business and pleasure. They are packing the paved roads in already congested areas, as well as over-running regions until recently considered remote. And they are pounding to pieces all but permanent roads.

Even though a number of states have made good progress in building Concrete Roads, their present permanently improved mileage is entirely inadequate, as every motorist knows.

Meantime, while the building of permanent highways lags, the production of motor vehicles is increasing the present total at the rate of 4,000,000 a year!

Sooner or later this gap must be closed. Why wait?

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building, thus assuring tax payers more for their money.

Now is the ideal time to extend both street and road programs!

Southern Textile Mills Report Better Demand

ATLANTA, Nov. 19.—Southern textile plants in this territory report a better and more sustained demand for cotton goods than at any time in months. Executives believe prices have now been fairly well stabilized and present a better opportunity for manufacturers' profits than at any time in 18 months. Meanwhile growers and holders of spot cotton are not inclined to sell at present prices. Spot is being accumulated by concentrating agencies including the co-operative associations and is drifting into stronger hands than those of the farmers themselves.

Farmers' Trade Boosts After Fall Harvesting

SEATTLE, Nov. 19.—Actual increase in farmers buying following harvest and sales of grain is shown in the statement of the largest mail order house in this section which says orders for November so far indicate the month will exceed last year's record.

POPULAR COMEDY AGAIN ON STAGE

Dobinson Players Present 'Adam And Eva' For Second Week

Typically American, and cleverly humorous, is the laughable comedy, "Adam and Eva" presented by the Dobinson Players at the club playhouse this week commencing today matinee.

George C. Pearce who plays the role of James King, the father of a family of social parasites, gives a fine portrayal. Adam, his young business partner, whose life has been passed on the rubber plantation along the Amazon, and who craves the companionship of family life, is skilfully handled by William H. Stephens, who is rapidly gaining a favorite place in the heart of the theatre goers. Eva, the young daughter, who cannot make up her mind as to who is most favored as a possible husband, is gracefully and charmingly interpreted by Mary Isabelle Alpaugh.

Supporting Cast

Uncle Horace, as portrayed by Carroll Nye, affords much amusement. Mr. Nye' s clever work is being recognized with commendation. Richard Ehlers as Clinton De Witt, the man who sets fashions, using his father-in-law as his banker, is making his usual 'hit' with the audiences. He will be remembered for his characterizations in "The Country Cousin" and "Turn to the Right." Arthur Lovejoy, whose role of Lord Andrew Gordon is done with finesse has added laurels to his wreath, as his interpretation leaves nothing to be desired. Gertrude Rothe makes a most charming picture as Julie, never overdoing, and her costuming is a treat.

Rosamonde Joyzelle as Aunt Abbie Rooker, aristocratic club woman and organizer, is a faithfully interpreted bit of acting Thyra Ruhland does clever work as Corinthia, the maid, who watches Adam's etiquette, while Eldon Bullis as Dr. Delamater is equally well presented.

The play is worth seeing, and is carried out in detail as to scenic effects. The Glendale Trio is heard at each performance.

Russian Music to Be Feature at Club Meet

Russian music will be featured Friday night at the meeting of the Artists' section of the Glendale Music club at the home of the chairman, Miss Gertrude Cleophas, 337 North Central avenue. Alexander Kosloff, Russian pianist, will play Rachmaninoff's "Concerto" with Miss Cleophas at the second piano. Elizabeth Mottern will give two groups of songs, and George Shkultetsky, Russian basso, will also sing. Completing the program will be a talk on Russian music.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Nov. 19.—President Remsen D. Bird of Occidental college, now on an eastern business tour, reports the following interview with Dr. Henry S. Pritchett, president of the Carnegie foundation:

"If you can accomplish this reorganization, you will render a most significant service to education in the western United States. I believe it is forward, right and educationally sound. I shall do all that I can to help, and shall have the office make a special study of the proposition."

In making that statement, Dr. Pritchett had reference to the plan to reorganize Occidental college into two separate colleges, one for girls and one for boys. President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university is among other prominent educators who have endorsed President Bird's plan, he reports.

A series of fifty books, entitled "The Chronicles of America" is being purchased for the Eagle Rock branch of the Los Angeles Public Library. Several of these volumes are already on the shelves and include:

"Red Men's Continent" (Huntington), "The Spanish Conquerors" (Richman), "Elizabethan Sea Dogs" (Wood), "Crusaders of New France" (Munro), "Pioneers of the Old South" (Johnson), "The Fathers of New England" (Andrews), "Dutch and English on the Hudson" (Goodwin), "Qaker Colonies" (Fisher), "Colonial Folkways" (Andrews), "The Conquest of New France" (Wrong).

The women's debating team of Occidental college will comprise affirmative, Ruby McDonald, Evelyn Graves and Frances Ryan; negative, Nena Lind, Neva Allison and Mary Sharp. The first league debates will be held December 4, when the affirmative team will meet Redlands university at Redlands and the negative will meet La Verne college at Occidental.

A pleasant surprise party was tendered last Friday to C. C. Miller of 5203 Hartwick avenue, on the occasion of his birthday.

Music and light refreshments were served, and Mr. Miller was presented with several fine remembrances.

Those present included, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Miller, Carl, Wilbur and Chauncey Miller and families, R. W. Keyes and family, Mrs. Isabel Caldwell, Mr. Shultz, Mr. and Mrs. John Wurtzbacher, Mr. and Mrs. Finch, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Carius.

Madrigal Club Members Plan Christmas Party

Climaxing the membership drive being conducted by the Madrigal club will be a Christmas party for the members December 11 at the home of Mrs. C. L. Viereck, 311 East Stocker street. Announcement of the party was made at the club rehearsal yesterday afternoon at the First Congregational church. Mrs. Charles A. Parker directed the singing. During intermission Mrs. H. W Carver sang as a solo, "What Robbin Saw" (Anton Strelezki) Mrs. Paul Hoffman, club president, reported on the recent presidents' council of the southern district. Officers of the club will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Mrs. Hoffman's home, 327 North Maryland avenue.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Nov. 19.—Because J. P. Edmondson of a local building materials company inadvertently placed a $14.25 purchase made by one man into the car of another, the police have been asked to aid him in locating the truck, which Edmondson describes as of a certain popular make, 1923 vintage, gray in color. Further than that he knows not, neither can he describe the appearance of the vehicle he mistook for that of the man who purchased the bill of goods.

National and state leaders in the Christian church and its organizations will speak at the rally which will be held here today, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary society of the local church. J. H. Mohorter of St. Louis, will be present as a representative of the United Christian Missionary society; C. R. Hudson, of Los Angeles will tell of the state work; F. M. Rogers of Los Angeles will present the claims of the College of Christianity of Los Angeles. The Bible school will be represented by Ellen Dickson, and the Christian Endeavor society by Wayne A. Neal of Los Angeles. Conferences led by these workers will mark the sessions.

Mrs. George Jonson of Los Angeles died at the Cottage hospital, Monday afternoon, November 17, 1924, of injuries received when her car, according to witnesses, was crowded off the road and into a ditch, on Fourth street near Bethany road.

With her was her son-in-law, C. A. Lund, who lives above Modesto, and who was driving the car, and William Bezemer, a friend, of Ripon, California. These two were taken to the hospital for minor injuries, but were soon able to leave. The woman had a basal skull fracture and internal injuries. The car was overturned and wrecked.

The police report the car that crowded them off the street is unknown.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER XXIII

"Of course, as a patriotic American," he went on, "there are drawbacks to the situation. You were going to explain to me, if I remember rightly, exactly how to save my country from her impending doom, and you were also going to reveal to me various nefarious schemes directed against her."

"Imagination!" she declared. "Nothing that I said was true. It was just spite."

"Well, I don't know that it matters," he observed, sipping his wine. "I didn't believe it, anyhow."

"Why didn't you believe it?" she demanded.

"Because," he told her, "I have had some conversation with Count Itash. I have come to the conclusion that that young man is not a fool. Under those circumstances I do not see how he could possibly have confided important political secrets to you. Nor can I conceive any sane reason for his having put them upon paper in such a fashion that you could have stolen them. Therefore, the existence of any means by which you could have read the riddles of Itash's brain does not seem to me possible."

"So, to put it in plain words," she suggested—

"I think that you were romancing."

She looked at him half mockingly, half in admiration.

"Really," she confessed, "I find you, for quite an ordinary person, unusually quick of perception."

"And to be equally honest," he rejoined, "I find you only attractive inasmuch as you are entirely removed from the commonplace. You are not good-looking enough to be a danseuse here. I am not sure that you dance well enough. You just have qualities that go to the ordinary man's head. And therefore shall we have one dance before I make my disappointed way back to the hotel?"

Again there was the beginning of that smile, which she seemed never to finish. They moved away to the music. When the dance was finished they found their way to two easy-chairs in a far corner of the Bar. She looked at him sombrely. The smile was no nearer breaking into fruition upon her lips.

"If I were not in love with Sammy," she acknowledged, "I think that I should rather like you."

"A pity about that subjunctive," he sighed. "I am not at all sure that he deserves you."

"If a man really deserves a woman," she said, "it is perfectly certain that the woman would not care for him. That always happens."

"It sounds platitudinal for you," he commented.

"Pooh!" she scoffed. "We all have to be reminded of the things we know best. I am, as you have suggested, plain, dull, altogether ordinary. Yet I have gifts. Sammy, at one time, loved me desperately. If he ceases to love me and puts another in my place, I shall destroy him. At present his passion has returned. He has been very sweet to me for many hours, and so Monsieur l'Americain, let us say good-bye. He does not like you and it would do me no good to have him come here and find us together."

Grant rose to his feet and bent low over her fingers.

"Mademoiselle," he said, "I do not think that this is the end. You would doubtless prefer, under the circumstances, that I quit the restaurant."

"It would be to my advantage, in case Sammy should come," she admitted. "If you were with a party of your friends it would be another matter."

Twice, during that few hundred yards down to the front, Grant stopped, fancying that he was followed. Each time, if there had been a shadow behind, it faded away. He entered the Casino, which he seldom visited, without exactly knowing why, avoided the Cercle Prive and hung about the tables near the entrance where the stranger visitants to Monte Carlo congregate. He drew near a table and threw a louis on his favorite number. It lost the first time. He repeated his stake and won. He turned abruptly around, with his winnings, and was not in the least surprised to find Itash standing behind him.

"You are fortunate," the young man murmured equably.

"They are a small part of life, these games of chance," Grant replied.

Itash's dark eyes glowed behind their spectacles.

"Listen," he expounded. "If you treat life like a science to be lived by the direction of the brain, day by day, year by year, decade by decade, then life is a thing that grows dry as dust in the living. It counts only for the hucksters. But if one only realizes—if one treats it as a gamble — a hundred-to-one chance, if you will—then life is entrancing."

"Philosophy on the floor of the Casino," Grant observed, smiling. "You haven't lost all your Orientalism, then, in Berlin and London."

"I have only learnt to value it the more," was the calm reply. "Without it no man can do more than climb to the middle places. In this world one needs the gambler's intinct."

"You'd be a dangerous fellow," Grant remarked, "to be trusted with the whole of your patrimony within these walls."

Itash glanced at his watch and smiled.

"My whole patrimony, my name, and my honor," he said, "are already at stake, but it is not the spinning of a wheel which decides my fate. Will you take a little supper with me at the Carlton, Mr. Slattery? I have a friend who awaits me there—an acquaintance, also, I believe, of yours."

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Adam and Eva" opened its second week at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre today with a 2:30 o'clock matinee. The play will be presented again at 8:30 o'clock tonight and every night the balance of the week, with a 2:30 o'clock Saturday matinee, announces Mrs. Florence Dobinson of the Dobinson Players.

This popular comedy is from the pens of Guy Bolton and George Middleton, two of the best known dramatists in the country, responsible, separately and in collaboration, for some of the cleverest plays that have graced the New York stage in recent years.

George C. Pearce, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh and William H. Stephens are the featured players in "Adam and Eva." They head an excellent professional cast. The Dobinson Players are presenting a superior brand of dramatic stock in Glendale and this play is their best offering to date.

THE GATEWAY

The Italian mannerisms displayed by Laurette Taylor as Madame L'Enigma in "One Night in Rome," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer screen version of her stage success which comes to the Gateway theatre today only, were acquired by the star during months of study.

Two months before the play, written by Miss Taylor's author-husband, J. Hartley Manners, was given its premiere in New York, Miss Taylor began spending her days in the Italian section of the city. She had some Italian friends and made others, and devoted most of her time to their company.

At the end of two months she had learned considerable Italian, and with her own natural acting ability, had acquired typical gestures, expressions and other mannerisms.

Miss Taylor makes a thorough study of every character she is to interpret so that by the time she plays it on the stage or screen she is able to give a perfect performance. The greatest sacrifice she ever made for her work occurred while she was rehearsing Fannie Hurst's "Humoresque," the only play in which she has appeared during the last ten years written by other than Mr. Manners.

In order that she might be more convincing in the part of the Jewish mother in "Humoresque" she permitted herself to take on weight. An intensive siege of reducing began as soon as the play's run was ended.

Among the players appearing in "One Night in Rome" with Miss Taylor are Tom Moore, Miss du Pont, Alan Hale, Eugenie Gilbert, Joseph Dowling, Edna Tichenor, Etta Lee, Warner Oland, William Humphrey, Brandon Hurst, Ralph Yearsley and Edward Connelly. Clarence G. Badger directed the picture. Also an added attraction a well varied bill of selected vaudeville.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND SUSIE'S WATCH

Susie Littletail, the rabbit girl sister of Sammie Littletail, had a watch. But I might as well tell you, before we go any further, that it wasn't a watch that kept time. It was a dumb watch from the six and seven cent store.

Susie's watch wasn't dumb because it didn't know anything, for it knew enough to keep still nearly all the while, which is a lot more than some watches I know. But the watch was dumb—that is, it was silent and wouldn't tick, because it had no ticker inside.

"But the hands go around when you turn the stem," said Susie's mother when she bought the little girl the watch.

"Yes, I know—it's lovely," sighed Susie, trying to feel happy when she wasn't. "But I do wish I had a watch that would tick. This one never keeps time."

"You can set the hands to any hour you like," said Sammie. "I think it's a pretty nifty watch."

"Yes, it is good," said Susie. "But I wish it would tick."

And when she had wished this a number of times she got to thinking so much about her dumb watch that she said to Lulu Wibblewobble, the duck:

"I'm going over and ask Uncle Wiggily if he can make my dumb watch into a ticking one."

"Yes, do," quacked Lulu. "Uncle Wiggily is very clever."

So Susie hopped over to the hollow stump bungalow of the kind old rabbit gentleman.

"Hello, Susie, how are you today?" asked Mr. Longears as he opened the door and, at the same time twinkled his pink nose. "And what time is it by your wrist watch?" he asked. For he saw that Susie had her dumb watch on her wrist.

"My watch doesn't tell time," she answered. "And it doesn't even tick. Do you s'pose you could put a ticker in my watch, Uncle Wiggily?"

The bunny gentleman thought for a moment. He seemed to be listening to some sound far off, then he smiled and said:

"Yes, Susie, I think so. Come in!"

Leaving Susie sitting in the parlor, Uncle Wiggily took the dumb watch down in the cellar. Now in the cellar Uncle Wiggily had a cheerful cricket who was staying near the warm furnace until summer should come again.

"Hello, there, Mr. Cricket," cried Uncle Wiggily, calling the chirping creature from out of the woodpile, where it slept during the day. "Will you please get inside Susie's dumb watch and make it tick for her, as you once did in my wrist watch?" asked the rabbit.

"Cheerio! Cheerio! Of course I will!" sang the cricket. The bunny opened the dumb watch, which was hollow, having no wheels in it, and the cricket hopped within. Then it sang and chirped and made a sound like ticking. It was just what Brian O'Lynn did in the song. Brian had no watch so he hollowed out a turnip and put a cricket inside. "They'll think it's a-tickin'," said Brian O'Lynn.

"Oh, now my watch is lovely!" cried Susie, clapping her paws when Uncle Wiggily gave it back to her.

And just then the Woozie Wolf jumped into the bungalow and tried to bite Uncle Wiggily. But Susie opened her watch, out popped the cricket and it bit the Wolf on the point of his nose. And this so frightened the bad chap that he jumped out of the bungalow faster than he had jumped in.

Then the cricket got back in Susie's watch and ticked for her as long as she wished, and many of the animal children thought it was a real watch, for the cricket sounded very natural. And if the lead pencil doesn't give itself a black mark when it tries to draw a moving picture on the wall paper down cellar, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Sammie's glimmer.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor: If you consider any of the following questions to be of sufficient interest to the general public, will you please answer them in your column?

1. As paraffine oil is not digestible, does it, because of mingling with and probably more or less adhering to the food in the intestines, prevent the food to a certain extent from being absorbed?

2. Are the mineral elements and vitamins in milk lost in making cheese, or are some or all of them retained in the cheese?

3. Are the mineral elements and vitamins injured or destroyed in pasteurized milk?

4. If the bran element in wholewheat bread is sufficiently indigestible to act as a corrective in constipation, can any of the mineral elements in it be absorbed by the intestines, as nutriment?

5. Will you please run your articles on 'Gas Poisoning' again? As the season for gas heaters is here, this article would doubtless prevent some fatalities.

6. When I first used tobacco, inhaling three or four cigarettes a day, I had to give it up after six months because of the pronounced narcotic effect. My feet would drop with a sort of patting sound when walking, and control of the sphincters was weakened. (My nerves are easily affected by either stimulants or depressants.) After a year or so I tried smoking again and every time the effect was just the opposite; the nerves of the face were so stimulated there was a continuous tingling that lasted for days after inhaling a few cigarettes. So I had to give it up again on this account. I do not care to smoke again. But I should like to know the reason for this change in my reaction to tobacco. —G. M."

1. No, according to clinical experience paraffine oil does not prevent food from being absorbed. I wish it did. It would be a good anti-fat remedy if it were so.

2. No, mineral elements are not lost from the milk when it is made into cheese. In fact, because cheese is concentrated milk, it contains nearly three per cent of mineral elements, compared to one-half of one per cent of the milk. The anti-neuritic and anti-scorbutic vitamins are probably lessened about one-half from the heating. Vitamin A, (the growth and anti-ophthalmic vitamin) is not materially lessened in the full cream cheeses. In the skim milk cheeses, such as cottage cheese, of course, it will be lost, as the vitamin A. is present in the cream.

3. In pasteurizing milk, there is probably some destruction of the anti-scorbutic vitamins. In pasteurizing on a large scale a very small percentage of the mineral elements may be lost. Both the vitamins and mineral elements are easily replaced by the fresh fruits and vegetables.

4. Yes, it is believed that the digestive juices are able to soften and abstract a large proportion of the mineral elements as well as some of the carbohydrate elements of the bran.

5. I ran the articles on Gas Poisoning again last week. I do hope they will prevent some fatalities.

6. Evidently you are unusually susceptible to nicotine poisoning. Nicotine, in common with many other toxic compounds, furnishes symptoms both of excitation and depression. Usually the depression comes from the exhaustion of the organs which first respond by increased activity. In your case, probably different states of the chemistry of your body accounted for the reversal. Write again some time.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Eagle Rock Man Held On Bad Check Charge

Jerome May, said to be the son of Mrs. Anna C. May of 2881 West Hill drive, Eagle Rock, is held at Glendale police headquarters under $1000 cash bail, charged with forgery. The warrant was issued October 1 by Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court, after a check for $25, made payable to Jerome May and signed Anna C. May, had been returned from the Glendale branch of the Security Trust & Savings bank, on which it was issued, September 18, marked "forgery."

Young May was arraigned this morning before Judge Lowe, and his preliminary hearing set for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, December 2. It is the belief of Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department that other checks issued by May, and all signed with his mother's name, are in the hands of Glendale merchants, and the department urges that all such checks be brought to police headquarters.

CLASS B—(Lightweights) GLENDALE vs. San Bernardino, winners in the Citrus Belt league, 2:30 p. m. Saturday at San Bernardino.

CLASS C—("Babes") GLENDALE vs. Long Beach, winners in the Pacific Coast league, 2:30 p. m. Saturday at Broadway field.

Student tickets sold prior to this week and season tickets are not acceptable for admission at post-season games. General admission will be 50 cents. There will be no downtown sale of tickets before local games. Tickets will be purchased at the gate.

For the first time in the history of high school football in Southern California, there will be three teams entered by one school in the first round of the playoff to determine the championship winners. That school will be the Glendale Union High school.

The three teams the local school will have in the initial round are: Heavyweights, or Class A, Class B and Class C. Each team won the pennant in its respective division of the Central league and thus earned the privilege of playing in the championship series.

The heavyweights finished with four victories and one defeat, South Pasadena administering the only trimming the Dynamiters suffered during the Central league schedule when the Tigers walloped the locals, 7 to 0, on Broadway field last Thursday. The Class B and Class C teams finished with clean slates.

Opening Games

The heavyweights will play the first game of the deciding series at Broadway field next Friday, when they meet Van Nuys, winners in the San Fernando league. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. Other Southern California high school elevens playing in the first round will be: San Diego vs. Orange; Pomona vs. El Centro and Santa Maria vs. Paso Robles. The winner in the Bay league, either Compton or San Pedro, and Sweetwater draw byes for the first week.

The Class C team will meet the Long Beach Babes on Broadway field at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Bay league babes will draw a bye for this week and will play the winners of the Glendale-Long Beach game next week for the championship.

The Class A series will run four weeks, ending on December 13. The Class B series will run three weeks, ending on December 6. The Class C series will run only two weeks, ending on November 29.

Lightweight Game

The first game in the playoff for the Class B or lightweights, will be Saturday afternoon at San Bernardino, when the locals meet the winners of the Citrus Belt league. This game was arranged by officials of the local high school athletic department, and is expected to be one of the stiffest battles the lightweights will experience this season.

Coaches Hicks and Butterfield, who have been putting the lightweights through their paces, are confident the local squad will win over the Citrus Belt leaguers. The locals have not been scored upon this season, and very few teams have been able to make any gains against them.

The other game in the Class B series will be Pasadena and Burbank. The Bay league winners draw a bye for this week but play the winners of the Glendale-San Bernardino game the second week, and the winner of that contest meets the winner of the Pasadena-Burbank tussle for the championship.

How Teams Chosen

Under the system in vogue among Southern California high schools until two years ago, there were three divisions, heavyweights, 130-pounders and 110-pounders. Students weighing 100 pounds or less played in the "fleaweight" division. Students weighing between 110 and 130 pounds were classified as "lightweights," while all students over 130 pounds were "heavyweights."

The new system of grading divides the league into three divisions, known as Class A, Class B and Class C. These classifications are made at the beginning of the school year and hold until the following February. They apply to baseball, basketball and football.

Students in Class A have 67 or more exponents. Students in Class B have from 57 to 66 exponents and students in Class C have 56 or less exponents.

Most of the pharmacies in Colombia are owned by physicians and, because of the popularity of patent medicines, the number of shops is beyond the proportion to the population, according to our standards.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The New York Giants, who have been cruising around England and the continent with indifferent success, soon will be headed back for the United States, and when they return there may be a dicker that will put two or three of their players elsewhere.

Since the death of Jake Daubert, the Cincinnati baseball club has been prying here and there trying to get some player to take his place. Now they are right back where they began, asking New York to let them have either Kelly or Terry.

The New York folks who are on this side are dubious as to whether Manager McGraw will permit either Terry or Kelly to get away from him. Kelly is the better first baseman, and probably always will be. Terry fights the ball and is not sure death on low ones. Kelly has improved to the point where he is without doubt the best right-handed first baseman in the league. While he has been with New York a long time, he still is comparatively young and should be good for five or six more years. Moreover he can play a fair outfield and is handy in many other ways. If either Kelly or Terry goes to Cincinnati, therefore, it probably will be Terry.

The Chicago Nationals are going to have some first basemen to distribute but the chances are that Cincinnati will not put in a claim for any of them, fearing they will not prove hard enough hitters for the Reds. Pittsburgh has an odd first baseman on its hand in Barnes, but Dreyfus will not part with him because, should Niehaus fail, Barnes gives promise of filling the gap very creditably.

Groh, it is said, will be retained by the Giants in order to fortify third base in case Lindstrom is injured—or perhaps to give McGraw a little more time to decide whether he wants Lindstrom for a regular third baseman.

The Giants are looking chiefly for two good outfielders. If Cincinnati makes a trade, the Reds cannot produce outfielders, but they might give McGraw a chance at their pitching staff.

BOXING NOTES

Bert Colima had everything his own way last night at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena when he won easily over Mike Dempsey. Marty Farrell and Alex Trambitas got a draw and a lot of razz from the crowd for slow work in the ring. Euell Paul got a draw with Jimmy Laventhal. Dave Taylor won over Ted Tribble. Young Farrell won over Johnny Fisk. Sailor Navarro got the nod over Benny Diaz. Marty Cross and Johnny Mendes failed to please the fans with their wrestling and stalling. Mendes got the decision.

TO-NIGHT'S CARD

Sailors meet landlubbers tonight at the Wilmington A. C. Richie King, featherweight champion of the navy, in the main event, meets Dandy Dillon. Sailor Alki Alki meets Ernie Hood in the semi-windup. Ray Moore and Sailor Near swap blows in the special spot. Eddie Brown and Sailor Cahoon meet in the fourth preliminary. Other bouts are: Sailor Davis and Teddy Steadman, Sailor Seigel and Earl Grigsby, and Sailor Mills and Kid Bonni.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Princeton, beaten by Yale after the Tigers had swamped Harvard with an exhibition of flawless defensive and offensive football; Minnesota victor over Illinois with nothing at all to show, so far as preceding games were concerned that the Gophers had the ability to cause such an upset; Columbia holding the strong Army team to a tie; Auburn holding Georgie to a single score. Centre defeating Alabama!

The present season is showing convincingly what other seasons since modern football was played have suggested—that the outcome of no game may be predicated upon games that have been played. The whole thing is sheer guesswork and coaches and others close to football outfits have to guess as much as anyone else.

Minnesota answered the question "who can stop Grange?" and in answering affirmatively not only won over Illini but justified the splendid material which rallied to the Crimson and Gold standard this fall as well as the untiring effort expended in developing it to the heights of its possibilities. Bill Spaulding, the coach, has needed just such a game as this to place him where he belongs.

For the Gophers met Illinois instructed in the various problems they would encounter and versed superbly in methods designed to take advantage of the shortcomings of the Urbana combination.

So with the Yale team at Princeton. Here was a triumph of skilled coaching based upon the shrewdest sort of scouting. Yale's line had the strength and ability to stop Princeton's rushes, just as the Tiger forwards were able to hold the Eli line sufficiently in check to prevent scores being made. Yale won because she had learned how to check Princeton's overhead system and because Princeton had not learned how to stop Yale's overhead game. Princeton has not learned this because in preceding games Yale had not shown her hand in forward passing. What problems Yale had showed to Princeton had to be worked out in the field during the course of the game. And this is always a terrific handicap to a team.

Again Yale had the advantage of a vast punting superiority. When you have to face high booming punts deep in your territory and in turn can answer this artillery assault only with guns of smaller calibre and less power the handicap is very material.

Yet, Princeton played good football. It was a team that had given its all against Harvard and the effects of that contest were seen in the comparatively slow down field of Princeton against Yale and the sluggish manner in which the attack was started. A complete contrast. After a bottle of champagne has been opened and the cork again inserted no zest will be apparent in that bottle when once more it is uncorked.

As the late Tom Shevlin remarked after the Yale 1915 team had defeated Princeton and then been snowed under by Harvard "you can not make two glasses of lemonade out of one lemon," so with Princeton. Her men tried hard and played well, but the lethargy of the play and the trouping of regulars off the field as the game went on told of the absence of the vital spark.

The Yale team impressed the writer as approaching the form of the 1923 eleven, better in fact, in the department of overhead play. It has but to defeat Harvard by a larger score than Dartmouth made against the Crimson to stand out as the leading team of the east.

Notre Dame crushed Nebraska and upheld her reputation as the greatest football outfit this side of the Sierra Nevadas and since it is understood the South Benders will go to the Pacific slope this winter, the Indiana eleven has such opportunity as no eleven has had to stand out as the nation's greatest.

Dartmouth showed her versatility by accepting a type of Corneil game which had defeated the Green three years running and demonstrating that when the forward pass is well worked it will score more frequently than the best brand of running attack.

TUNNEY-SMITH BOUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Announcement was made today that Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, and Jeff Smith, Bayonne, N. J., middleweight, had been matched to appear in a fifteen-round no-decision bout at New Orelans on December 8.

Since the starting of motor routes between Egypt and Beirut, mail is transported between the two cities within six hours instead of in several days as before.

Some Logical Contenders

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Written for The Evening News.

What seems to be a real serious effort to find the honest to goodness "logical contenders" for the featherweight and lightweight ring titles, is under way.

Tex Rickard has selected the six men who, in his opinion, have the best chance of any of the present day little fellows of ascending the ladder to the titles mentioned. He wants to pit these men against each other in a series of battles—the winner in each class to get the first crack at the champion.

It's up to the New York state athletic commission how far Rickard goes with his plans. He needs the o. k. of the commission on his proposed cards and its help in forcing the fighters to go through with the elimination series.

The six men Rickard thinks rank first in the field of feathers are Louis Kaplan of Meriden, Conn.; Danny Kramer of Philadelphia, Kid Roy of Canada, Lew Hurley of New York, Lew Paluso of Salt Lake City and Mike Dundee of Rock Island, Ill.

Rickard's choice of feathers may be altered by the commission, however, as the members are intent upon dropping Kramer for Bobby Garcia and submitting Jose Lombardo of Panama for the Canadian hopeful.

The featherweights will swing into action November 21 at Madison Square Garden. At least the first round of bouts will be held that night. Present plans call for ten-round battles in the preliminaries and fifteen rounds for the semis and finals.

Of the men mentioned Kaplan and Dundee seem to be the best.

Any one of these lads could give Johnny Dundee a run for his title right now, Rickard believes.

Dundee has relinquished all claims to the title, however. The tourney therefore will simply produce a man who can boast of the title until beaten. He will serve as a stepping stone for whoever finally is acclaimed king.

The lightweights Rickard figures as leaders in the scramble for Leonard's title are Jack Bernstein of Yonkers, N. Y., Sid Terris of New York, Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., Luis Vicentini of Chile, Sid Barbarian of Detroit and probably Archie Walker of New York. Bernstein and Mandell meet first.

Johnson Gets Option On Oakland Ball Club

OAKLAND, Nov. 19.—Walter Johnson will manage and take his regular turn on the pitching slab as well as being one of the chief owners of the Oakland Baseball club, it became known here today as the former Washington pitching ace departed for Reno after closing up the final details of the deal for the local club. Johnson carried with him an option expiring Saturday night. He left behind a check for $5000 and on Saturday will pay $25,000 additional on the option. The entire purchase price of the club is around $350,000. Present owners of the Oaks are to secure holdings of minor stockholders for Johnson prior to final closing of the deal early next week.

BOXING TO SHIFT WEST FROM EAST

Frisco Or L. A. Looked To As Logical Capitol For Fistic Sport

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Unless a decided change for the better takes place in the very immediate future, the capital of American boxing is likely to be moved, per see from New York to San Francisco or Los Angeles, just as soon as the new California law becomes effective.

New York boxing has degenerated from a big time business to a tent show during the last nine months, and judging from the type of bouts being offered and the almost chronic inadequacy of the receipts, the condition is becoming permanent.

Even Tex Rickard, open handed to a fault in the boom days, seems to have drawn the purse strings and Madison Square garden now plays host to the second raters where once it dallied only with headliners. The garden hasn't produced a bout of national importance since opening its doors for the present season, and only for the fact that the Christmas fund show has signed Tom Gibbons to meet a leading light heavyweight next month, there would be nothing whatever in prospect.

Purses Must Come Down

In the old days the garden never made big money, although it drew millions at the turnstiles. Today it is fortunate if it breaks even on a show. Seemingly, the New York fan has wearied of top prices and will not support his champions in the style to which they are accustomed. Neither will he support the small timers. He seems to want the champions at a price commensurate with his desire to eat for the rest of the week.

Various shows conducted at the garden this season have produced less than five thousand paid admissions and in consequence, have failed to pay expenses. Others have broken even or shown a profit too small to be considered worthy of attention. The garden might as well close its doors for all the good it is doing Rickard at the moment.

The answer? It calls for moderation of the demands of champions and near champions now lying idle because no one will meet their prices.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19.—The Pacific coast, like the rest of the country, was simply stunned by Saturday's gridiron results, for be it known they are just as closely in touch with events in the football world out here as they are in the middle west, the south, or the Atlantic seaboard. They know all the star players and their records and watch the teams closely.

The defeat of Illinois at the hands of the lowly Minnesota team was really unexpected and difficult to understand, but evidently the ripping that Chicago administered to Zuppke's line last week left them stale and the heroic work that Harold Grange did in that game in turning a 21-7 score into a 21-21 tie took a lot out of him, especially as he lacked the support of McIlwain in that contest.

Then, too, it was known that Minnesota had some fine material, particularly in the backfield, and was likely to come to life at any time, and with Schutte and Ledberg, make a lot of trouble.

Out here the excitement over the California-Stanford battle of November 22 is growing apace. For the most part California seems to be the favorite. Bagshaw's Washingtonians have a great respect for Imlay, Andy Smith's backfield star, although some of them are ready to admit that if Ernie Nevers of Stanford is back in the game and ready to start, he will take a lot of stopping. Any backs who are so respected by such stars as George Wilson and Elmer Tesreau will certainly be worth watching.

Of course, Harrell, the California center, is regarded as one of the scintillating stars of coast football and will carry a lot of attention next Saturday afternoon. Like the big games of the east and middle west, this great coast game finds all seats sold out and thousands clamoring for the coveted pasteboards.

BOWLING SCORES

The Pacific Electrics ran wild last night at the Recreation alleys and bowled over the McLean Motor Sales Co. team in a major league match. The trolley men took the first two games by rolling 1026 and 1012, while the third game went to the automobile men by three pins—1004-1001. Meek of the losers bowled his team to victory in the third game by shooting 265. He threw a scare into the trolley men in the second game when he rolled 238. Brehme of the winners got 245 in the second game. Tonight the Glendale Tile and Mantel team meets the Frederick's Cafe aggregation from Pasadena in a Foothill league match. Last night's scores:

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Eastern boxers who are planning to trek to California and promoters of this section—Kearns for one—who are thinking of building arenas had better wait until they learn the personnel of the new state boxing commission. The writer's prediction is that this commission is going to be a wow.

From exclusive sources that are reliable the writer has word that Friend W. Richardson, California's quaker governor who has made no secret of his strong opposition to boxing, plans to appoint a commission which not only may put a discouraging damper upon the newly authorized boxing game, but may serve to prevent any pro bouts.

What would you think, brothers, of a boxing commission composed of a prominent clergyman and an equally prominent Y. M. C. A. worker? It would not be the sort of body under which professional boxing would flourish, would it?

Under the law matches must be sanctioned under the commissioners, and commissioners once sanctioned can not be recalled for a period of years and it is possible Governor Richardson's appointees may prevent any pro boxing of any sort.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Well—Ye Ed didn't go very far off trail when he doped Long Fred Fulton's possibilities at Culver city. The Minnesota plasterer, after laying down more times than a coach dog in a day's routine, finally grabbed for himself a real record. He's now champion of the world, holding title for shortest "set-up" in the annals of Kid Queensberry.

Mexico's prize-jumping bean, Fuente, slapped Fred in the beezer and told him to squat. Fred squatted three times within 17 seconds, the final count taken with the long plasterer doubled up in all the agony of a ten-cent jackknife.

Guests of "Windy" Windsor At Culver City stadium only regret one thing—"Windy" wouldn't give them stadium to throw at Fred when he made his exit. Everything else reached some part of Fred's anatomy. Rushing a colored suspect in woman attack case from vicinity of lynching party is a co-ed play compared to riot caused when Fred was escorted to waiting auto to make his escape from stadium Monday night.

Fred now can winter in Sunny California. That subject has bothered the Plasterer for many months—where to spend the winter. And the riddle was all solved in 17 seconds by Fred's Ingersol. What's the use of being slapped for four rounds when one can lay comfortable on the rosin after 17 seconds of ballroom dancing. Fred's no chump. Only chumps listed in that affair were the ones who paid good American cartwheels to see Fred grab a record for himself, and a winter in California.

Question now before house: Who and for what good reason is Tony Fuente after the "set-up?" Fuente already holds the Mexican title for prize jumping bean. He slapped the Minnesota Plasterer silly in 17 seconds. Fans wondering just what this victory makes Mexico's Dempsey. Who cares?—only the guy who paid price of "set-up." Fred may winter in Sunny California, but he'd better take the sun in some secluded spot in Laurel Canyon. More people are looking for Fred than voted against Davis.

Boys who paid to see Fred kiss the canvas only lost three and one-fourth rounds. What if Fred had pulled the 'lay-down' after twelve-round stanzas are approved.

FLASH—Associated Master Barbers of America condemn Valentino's whiskers.

While we're on Kid Queensberry's favorite sport reference to that "talked-of" Benny Leonard-Joe Benjamin joke won't be missed. Another prospective fizzle. Joe Benjamin has about as much license to get behind four ropes with Benny Leonard as Fulton has a right to live.

First place Joe Benjamin is supposedly a lightweight. Benny Leonard hasn't been a lightweight for at least three and maybe four years. Lightweight battle would be out of question. Benny would make Joe look like Fulton in ring with Dempsey. Benjamin-Leonard fight would be throwing rank insult in face of any self-respecting fight fan. But—these boys have to buy three meals a day. If chumps want to finance these dishes here's a good chance to donate.

That sport they play over around Hollywood entitled 'Trying to Make Pictures' is becoming more popular with each succeeding tick of Big Ben. First it's 'Sinful Husbands,' then 'Sinful Wives.' Then would-be dramatists or scenarioist as they like to be dubbed turn to both 'sinners' after they reach Heaven. Just now vogue is 'virtuous'—'Virtuous Flirts,' just turned out of the studio to keep fans wondering what's it all about.

Some of pictures now offered for public's amusement would make prize cross-word puzzles. Tricks used to get alleged dramatic action are so old and moth-eaten public has to be as old as Methuselah to remember them. Consequently younger generation is fooled. They have to do a lot of guessing.

W. Somerset Maugham who knew enough about real dramatic values to write the story from which the most successful play in a decade was taken—'Rain'—can vouch for this 'trying to make pictures' sport. Somerset hustled out to Hollywood from New York in answer to wire from prominent producer who wanted rights to stories.

Tomorrow night, 'East Lynne.'

Only two white captains are left commanding Japanese merchant vessels.

DAD GRANGE IS PROUD OF 'RED'

Grid Hero's Six-Foot Parent Recounts History Of Athletic Son

By MARGARET DALE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

WHEATON, Ill., Nov. 19.—No matter whether "Red" Grange wins or loses, he is still a hero in this little town of Wheaton, twenty-five miles from Chicago, where the great Illinois football star lives.

Probably the best loved man in Wheaton, a town of 7,000 where neighbors know neighbors, is this same "Red" Grange, and the man who loves him most is the chief deputy of the county jail, for ten years chief of police of Wheaton—Lyle Grange, his own six-foot, stalwart father. In his self-styled "bachelor apartments," second flat to the rear, on Main street, which "Red" shares when home, Lyle Grange told the writer today how he has tried to bring his boy up to be a regular "he man."

Wheaton had just come clamoring to his doors for the "straight news" about "Red." "Was he hurt badly in the Minnesota game?" "Was his back injured?" "Will he play again this season?" Never a word as to how it happened his team lost the game. It was only when a long distance call from Champaign came that Wheaton settled down. A physician told "Red's" father that only a tendon in his arm was pulled loose. He would not play ball again this season, but at the same time he was not badly injured. The sheriff's wife went away murmuring, "I can have him up for dinner Thanksgiving after all."

Father's Story

Lyle Grange likes nothing more than to talk about his boy. As this father of the big football hero of the age dusted off a chair for the writer, he pointed with pride to the four walls of the little bachelor living room. Clippings from dozens of newspapers and cuts of "Red" in action did service where wall paper had once done its duty.

"I pasted the clippings there," said Mr. Grange, "my son Harold, that is 'Red' would not have done it. He's too modest. He does not like all this adulation anyway. And if there'd been any women here they probably would have put them in a scrap book somewhere. But I like them where they are. They're finer than paintings to me, and they make this look like a regular he-man's apartment."

There we sat in the five-room bachelor abode of Lyle Grange and his son "Red" and another son, Garland. Not a feminine thing about it. Plain dark matting rugs on the floors; substantial oak chairs; plain muslin curtains; a few books that men like to read; a hatrack; a big heating stove and dishes; a cook stove, and a 100 per cent man's den, which "Red" calls his own when he comes home vacationing and to truck ice. No pennants, no footballs, no decorations or fussiness of any kind.

A giant in appearance, and solid as they make them, Red's father was in his younger days a Pennsylvania lumber man, who got off many a log jam, purely through his superb strength and swiftness of limb. Red's grandfather was one of the fastest wood choppers in the Allegheny mountains. The dark-eyed mother of "Red," who died of typhoid fever when he was 5½ years old, leaving two small boys and a girl to be brought up by the lumberman father, was a strong athletic girl. It is this fine physical heritage, Lyle Grange believes, that gave big "Red" his start.

Then Lyle told how he'd come home at night years ago, and "Red" would say:

"Come on, Pa, let's wrestle." And "Pa," big six-footer that he was, would get down on the kitchen floor before he started the supper, and "wrestle" with the future athlete. This man, who has been father and mother to his boys, determined when they were young to bring them up good and kind, but "hard" physically, and regular "he-men."

"Fathers ought to play more with their sons, and encourage them in good athletic games," Red's father said. "It keeps them out of mischief, both the sons and fathers, and where athletics and studies are linked together the boy has more interest in the latter."

Mr. Grange then showed the writer the first prize "Red" ever won. It was a pearl handled knife, won in a race at a Sunday school picnic.

"He has been bringing home prizes, medals and cups ever since for any athletic stunts he's entered into," said Mr. Lyle. "He won nineteen medals in his last year at high school."

The writer sat for two hours listening to "Red's" father talk about the boy he brought up.

"And I did it without any woman's help," he added pridefully.

WALL STREET BOOM HURTS BUSINESS

Country's Leading Industry Heads So Figure Big Rise In Stocks

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Business men throughout the country are anything but unanimous in their enthusiasm over the sensational advance in stocks in Wall Street in the last twelve days. This advance, it is estimated, has added some three billion dollars to the paper value of the securities in question. Business has improved, but it is the general consensus of opinion among the conservative that it has not improved sufficiently to increase the assets of about 400 companies by three billion dollars, nor to provide for the payment of dividends on that increased amount.

This premise leads inevitably to the conclusion that either stocks of the companies in question were too low prior to November 5 or they are too high now. In any case, some businessmen see a readjustment necessary which will have a certain effect on the volume of trade.

"Inflation," is a word that has not yet lost its terrors for American businessmen. They felt the disastrous effects of the inflation of 1920 for three years after that time. They feel that they have finally gotten conditions back to a normal basis with the consumption close on the heels of production. Therefore they do not look with favor on anything that would tend to force unwarranted expansion.

Paper Valuation

It is logical to believe that if an increased paper valuation of $3,000,000,000 on the stocks dealt in on the stock exchange is followed by a demand for dividends on that sum, which at 4 per cent would mean the paying out of $120,000,000 a year, an equal demand would be made on companies whose stocks are not bought and sold in Wall Street.

Compliance with a movement for expansion of such a sort probably would lead to higher price. The public not only has shown stubborn resistance to high prices, but an ability and willingness to do without goods rather than pay them. Merchants and manufacturers, therefore, are anxious to avoid anything that might tend to check buying, especially at a time when the purchasing power of the country is high and when farmers have money to spend for the first time in years.

What May Result

In addition higher prices for products might well be followed by a move for higher wage scales, and an undoing of the results which it has taken all the years since 1920 to accomplish.

No matter what the businessmen of the country think of the recent Wall Street developments, however, they are practically a unit in the belief that conditions throughout the country warrant a period of sane healthy prosperity and gradual growth. One thing the flood of money poured into Wall Street has shown is that there is no lack of capital available for legitimate and warranted expansion of industry.

Executives in widely varied lines agree as to the outlook. R. R. Dupree of the Proctor and Gamble company said today:

"Business, it seems to me, will settle with a tendency towards steady buying. We look for an improvement in soap sales and feel confident that the future will bear out this optimism. The soap industry as a whole will move forward in a positive way."

Some Comments

H. B. Cheney, silk manufacturer, said:

"Business relies for its activities on confidence in the future. Many businesses and business people will now be ready to go ahead without fear.

Joseph H. Cohen, chairman of the committee on education of the Gelatine Manufacturers of America, said:

"Encouraged by the United States, Europe will tend to raise the standard of living in Europe. Foreign competition, therefore, will not be corrosive. Confidence and progress and profit in the gelatine business is before us."

In the meantime, most businessmen are going ahead without regard to the fluctuations of Wall Street.

All Glendale Seems To Be Writing Them!

one, a good boost for Glendale:

There was an old man of Wassail,
Who lived on rice, gruel and kale,
'Till much to his bliss,
His physician said this:
"All you need is to live in Glendale."

As stated, Mrs. Graham, one of the prize winners, offered a number of limericks. Here is one she wrote, in 1873 while at high school:

Our grandfather Hale of Nantucket
Kept all of his gold in a bucket,
When the Providence man,
Who was courting our Nan,
Found grandfather's gold why he tuck it.

Also, here's another one from the pen of Mrs. Graham; she's a ready limerick writer, it would appear:

There was a young lady of Tryon
Who thought she had tamed a large lion,
But one day in the cage,
He flew into a rage,
Now that lady's an angel in Zion.

Speaking of home brew, which the Limerick Editor is not, here's one from Mary Daily, 111 East Harvard:

There was an old man named Mahanna
Who made some home brew in a canna.
It had a wow of a kick
And made him so sick.
He sleeps now under the sanda.

Wilmer Pemberton, 354 West Magnolia, submitted two limericks in the contest. Both of them are good. Here's one:

So lazy a chap is young Hiram,
That the least little effort will fire him;
At all sorts of work
He has proved such a shirk,
That none who know Hiram will hire him.

And here's the other offering from the neat pen of Mr. Pemberton:

A city man thought he'd try farming,
But grew poor at a rate most alarming,
Now he's making good money,
From a book bright and sunny,
Called, "How to Get Wealthy At Farming."

More limericks sent to the contest editor will appear in The Glendale Evening News tomorrow. Wait for 'em! Watch for 'em!

And don't forget, folks, that another contest is under way! Remember, too, that limericks FIRST received stand a better chance of being awarded prizes, all other conditions being equal.

So, then, send in your limericks AT ONCE! The Limerick Editor is preparing for the deluge.

Thomas H. Ince Dies At Beverly Hills Home

More than 25 per cent of the directors in Hollywood and other studios here came from Ince and Inceville, his palatial producing plant.

Ince had a genius for taking the best out of an actor. Stars drifted across the Ince horizon like on a summer's night, coming and going, but never did they do better work than under his direction.

First making the western picture popular, Ince turned to the society drama picture and produced some noteworthy films.

Ince was the first man to use the "spectacle scene" in cinemaland. He was the creator of the big "battle scenes" which for so long were popular. In producing the battle of Gettysburg, Ince for the first time used hundreds of men and horses and played up mass effects.

Accuses Griffith

Later David W. Griffith developed the spectacle idea further and produced what has been called the greatest picture, "The Birth of a Nation."

After Ince saw "The Birth of a Nation," he wrote a note to Griffith and accused him of stealing his brain child. Griffith laughed and scoffed at the idea but Ince was said to have never failed to stress the point that he supplied the "big idea" for Griffith's gigantic success.

Athlete and lover of the out-of-doors, Ince first gave the screen its many beautiful scenic pictures, too. His ability as a landscape gardener was widely recognized and today "Garden Bits" on lots are referred to as the "Ince touch."

Education Defined By Executive of Schools

"It is the aim of our schools to teach the children to do well the things that come to them to do" was the simple definition of education given this morning by Miss Annie L. McIntyre, assistant superintendent of Glendale schools, in addressing the Mutual Benefit Reading circle at the public library. Miss McIntyre gave recognition to National Education week, urging Glendale parents to visit Glendale schools. She said today 243 visitors were received yesterday in city schools, Acacia and Wilson Intermediate schools having the largest number, each claiming fifty-six.

"Old Members'" day was celebrated today at the circle, with fifty women present. Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman, presided. She told of recent visits to cities of the Southland in the interest of reading circle extension work. Quotation books of the circle are now on sale for holiday gifts. Mrs. A. T. Wintersgill read an article on "Home and Mother," claiming mothers can be less motherly and fathers more fatherly. Luncheon was served. Mrs. Henry presided over the afternoon session.

Work Started on City Sewer System, No. Two

C. E. Green started work today on section 2 of the $1,600,000 Glendale sewer system and Charles and George K .Thompson are at work on sections 1 and 3, Virgil B. Stone, city manager, reported today, after conferring yesterday with City Engineer Van Ormand of Los Angeles. One of the most important features of the work, from Glendale's viewpoint, is the installation of meters to register the flow of sewage into the Los Angeles outfall sewer, as it will be necessary for this city to pay Los Angeles, on that basis, for the maintenance and upkeep of the outfall sewer. In order to install these flow meters, the proper type of manholes must now be decided upon, according to Mr. Stone, and this problem is now being worked out by the two cities.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Heavy profit-taking followed the advance of industrial and railroad stock prices to new high levels today and in the second big wave of realizing sales which passed over the market a portion of the gains acquired by many stocks since Monday morning were wiped out.

The rush to buy stocks at the opening of the market today was as great as any that has been seen since the last upward movement started and orders were marked sharply higher in every department of the market. Opening prices showed a number of gaps of 2 to 4 points and leading stocks were pushed forward 2 or 3 points more before the demand was satisfied. Again the ticker was unable to keep pace with the speed of the market and shortly after the noon hour it was announced that prices appearing on the tape were 22 minutes behind the market.

The most impressive movement in the early trading, outside of the rails, was in the motor and independent steel group. Further stimulus was given to the trading in steel stocks by the weekly summar yof the Iron Age, which reported heavy buying of pig iron and finished steel last week and an advance of from 50 cents to $2 a ton in prices of pig iron, shapes and bars and $3 in strip and other forms of steel. Since the first of November, according to the Iron Age, sales of pig iron amounted to 1,000,000 tons.

St. Louis and Southwestern common took the lead of the speculative rails with a sharp advance to 50¾, the highest in its history. Frisco common was in new high ground at 57 before yielding to profit-taking and Great Northern, St. Paul, New Haven, Missouri Pacific and Katy common and preferred stocks rose to higher prices on the movement.

The heavy decline in prices around 1 o'clock was precipitated by selling of the oils and specialties. Sinclair sold down to 16½ for a loss of 2½ points from last week's high. Radio corporation was called on to absorb heavy profit-taking and short selling and the price fell from 48½ to 41¼ for a loss of 7 points. American Can dropped from 155½ to 152½ and numerous industrial leaders declined a point or more.

At the end of this selling movement the market halted for a brief period. Speculative rails were then brought to the front; Katy common advanced 2 points to 25½. Buying of Rock Island was based on rumors that the Southern Pacific was negotiating for immediate lease of its property on an agreement guaranteeing 4 per cent on the common stock.

Stock sales today, 2,433,100 shares; bonds, $20,203,000.

Thomas W. Watson, former city manager, spoke on the meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon at the Harvard High school. He urged all members of the realty board to be present and hear Harold Bartholomew of the Los Angeles City and County Planning commission. Mr. Watson outlined the nine traffic arteries Los Angeles is contemplating and the manner in which Glendale can connect with them.

O. M. Newby urged the realty board ot get behind the movement. President Twining called attention to the congested traffic condition between Glendale and Los Angeles. He characterized it as one of the greatest benefit to the future growth of the city.

Urges Reforestation

America has failed to provide for the future by neglecting to provide reforestation, Albert Rebel, editor of "Scenic America," said in a brief address. He quoted figures showing the devastation of timber lands in United States annually and predicted the supply will be exhausted in a few years.

Charles B. Guthrie suggested that some Saturday afternoon be designated when members of the board would each plant a tree on the bare hills north of Glendale. O. M. Newby, W. S. Kirk and Mr. Guthrie were named members of a committee to draft a resolution on forest preservation and report next week.

The board endorsed the oratorio, "The Messiah," to be presented at Broadway High school on December 16. A resolution of condolence and sympathy on the death of Mrs. Cameron Thom was passed and President Twining asked the members to attend the funeral tomorrow morning. The members will meet at the office of J. Pearson, 715 South Brand boulevard, and attend the funeral in a body.

to maintain the law and carry out the orders of the court. He admits in a telegram to me that the citizens are all without arms. Surely a sheriff and his deputies can control men without weapons. I feel hopeful that the sheriff will do his duty fearlessly without regard to political consequences. In the end a sheriff must gain in respect by being a man and bravely carrying out the orders of the court.

"It seems strange that those who are the aggressors should ask for troops, while those who are injured have gone into court. It seems equally strange that a sheriff should want guardsmen to suppress an alleged mob of unarmed citizens.

Messenger of Peace

"I have sent State Engineer McClure to Inyo county to investigate and report to me. He is thoroughly familiar with the water problems there. He goes as a messenger of peace to observe and make recommendations. The responsibility of settling the controversy between Inyo farmers and the Los Angeles city water district rests with the courts and not with me. McClure has no authority in the premises. He simply goes to investigate for me."

SCHOOL BOY LIONS CLUB CHIEF GUEST

Intermediate Scholar Tells Luncheon Meet About Education Week

Billy Gray, a pupil at the Wilson Intermediate school, addressed the Lions' club at their luncheon this noon, as a part of the American Education week program. The meeting was held at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, President W. B. Kelly presiding.

Master Gray urged the members of the club to visit Wilson Intermediate school during the week and see for themselves how the principles of Americanism are being inculcated into the pupils by their teachers.

The reply to the young man's address was made by Jack Riley of the Los Angeles den, deputy district governor of Lions International.

Encouraging Item

"One of the most encouraging things I have ever heard is Billy's address," he said. "The strength and support of this nation is founded on education as taught in our public schools."

Mr. Riley then went on to tell the local den that he was eager to have the charter membership of the club completed as soon as possible.

J. Arthur Myers, leader of the Glendale Symphony orchestra, led in the singing of "America," Miss Florence Haycock at the piano.

Later Mr. Myers spoke on "The Value of Music in the Business World," stressing the beneficial effect of music on the nerves. He outlined the work being done by the Symphony orchestra and the Choral club to bring music to the people, and told of the development of the Eisteddfod movement.

JUST OFF BRAND ON PALMER

Two Houses on Big Lot 50x192 to Alley.
Income $125 per month. Room for Another House.

Do You Know that York boulevard is now being paved right into Glendale, and that this is the direct short route to Highland Park, South Pasadena, Alhambra and points beyond?

Sycamore Canon Road has just been paved and is developing into an important route for traffic; will ultimately be the short route to Flintridge, Pasadena and points beyond.

Adams Street is the only direct north and south street between Glendale Avenue and Sycamore Canon Road, and with the building of the new theatre near Colorado, will become still more important as a through street.

Get Your Map and you will see that PALMER STREET is the direct outlet to BRAND Boulevard for each of these three thoroughfares.

This property is only three doors from Brand, facing Maryland. The houses are nearly new, well built, and the entire property is in fine condition.

The house at the front has been divided into two apartments, each with separate entrance, the front renting for $50, the other, now occupied by owner, has its own separate kitchen and would easily rent for $25, or more. The house at the rear is reached by a separate walk from the front, has its own separate yard, and is rented for $50. There is ample room for another house or a small duplex between the two, with garages at the alley.

We think this is an extraordinary buy at $13,500; $5000 cash, balance to suit purchaser. With only one short block separating Brand and Glendale Avenue at this point, this property has a future. Do not disturb tenants.

Flood Control Plans Start Hot Arguments

diverting the waters of the Sycamore canyon into Verdugo wash.

Board Decides Monday

P. J. Hayselden, however, pointed out that Mr. Reagan is only an employe of the Board of Supervisors and it would not be a good political move to bring him into the controversy at this time. It was suggested that Virgil B. Stone, Glendale city manager, be invited to address the chamber on the subject, and that Edward M. Lynch, a prominent engineer living in Glendale, likewise render his opinion of the matter.

The controversy hinges on whether to allow the flood waters from Sycamore canyon to come down Sycamore Canyon road, as in the past, or to divert them to Verdugo wash, by means of a tunnel connecting the former with latter in the vicinity of Everett street.

Inasmuch as the Board of Supervisors meets at 9 o'clock Monday morning, November 24, to consider the Glendale flood control problem, it was felt that a special meeting prior to this date should be set, and it was consequently voted to meet at the Chamber of Commerce rooms 7:30 o'clock Friday night, November 21, to hear from Mr. Stone and Mr. Lynch on the various angles of the proposed tunnel and rip-rap joining Sycamore canyon flood waters with those of Verdugo canyon, and divertng them to the Los Angeles river through a larger and wider Verdugo wash.

Will Enter Float

The chamber received a committee from South Brand boulevard and voted to lend every possible aid to this section of the city in getting the Pacific Electric tracks lowered. It was voted to take up with the Southern Pacific the matter of posting guide signs to the new station at the foot of Cerritos avenue. It was voted to enter a float in this year's "Tournament of Roses" at Pasadena, and L. W. Chobe, chairman of the float committee, was asked to prepare plans and estimates and submit them next Tuesday night at the directors' meeting.

The chamber endorsed the request of the Glendale postal employes for a raise in salary. This request and endorsement will be sent to the California delegation in Congress. President Hewitt, as chairman of the Welfare Chest, spoke in behalf of this organization.

It was announced that the next monthly forum dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be under the auspices of the Glendale Realty board, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, President W. L. Twining of the Realty board presiding. A. G. Arnold, new secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker. The meeting will be over promptly at 9:30 o'clock.

R. S. Person Elected Head of Republicans

previously printed in The Glendale Evening News.

Addresses Members

Following his election, President Person addressed the large number of Republicans who gathered in the council chambers at the City Hall. Mr. Person has been an active politician for many years, and, it is believed, his seasoned judgment and experience will be a big asset to the newly formed permanent organization here.

Others who spoke briefly were Col. Everington, Mr. Sherer, who suggested a big get-together dinner later in the winter; Mr. Cowan, Mr. Butts, Miss Daniels, Mr. Watson, Secretary Richards, H. V. Adams, who will be chairman of the finance committee and ex-officio member of the executive board; Dr. C. T. Crosswell, Dr. Jessie Russell and James Everington, Sr.

Seek Register

The designation of a permanent deputy registrar at the Glendale City Hall will be sought by the Republicans. This move is sponsored by Mr. Cowan and Mr. Sherer. By-laws for the organization will be drawn up shortly by that committee and presented at a later meeting. No definite time for the next meeting was set, this matter being left to the president.

New members whose names were enrolled on the club's books last night were S. A. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. William Rattray, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Anderson, Mrs. Emily Tighe, Rev. C. R. Courtney, E F. Culp, Mrs. F. H. Lowe and others.

Speaker

H. V. ADAMS, in charge of escrow department of Glendale Savings bank, who will deliver the principal address at the chamber of commerce luncheon.

H. V. Adams, head of the escrow department of the Glendale Savings bank, who will be the main speaker at the meeting of the Greater Glendale Luncheon club Thursday noon, has lived in Glendale for more than eight years, although he is only slightly known outside his small circle of business acquaintances. This is accounted for by the fact that until the past several years, although Mr. Adams had his established home in Glendale, he spent virtually all his time traveling over the United States and Canada on the chautauqua speaking platform. Three years ago his health gave out and he came to Glendale.

Mr. Adams was on the chautauqua circuit for fifteen years. During that time he visited and spoke in all parts of America, traveling over an average of 40,000 miles each year and filling between 250 and 300 engagements annually.

Mrs. Clampett Opens Women's Wear Shop

In looking for a location, about a year ago, for an exclusive women's and misses' shop, Mrs. Mae Clampett visited a number of Southern California cities, finally deciding on Glendale as affording the best opportunity.

Mrs. Clampett opened her shop in a bungalow at 819 South Glendale avenue, and, with the cooperation of her isster, an experienced buyer in New York, stocked her shop with exclusive and distinctive gowns for all occasions. Mrs. Clampett's sister makes weekly shipments from New York, and the small overhead expense of the bungalow shop makes possible high quality at low prices. Mrs. Clampett says she always has on hand about 300 gowns of different patterns. Her shop is known as the New York Ready-to-Wear Shoppe.

Mr. Pixley says Buck's sanitary gas ranges have been recognized as one of the best for 80 years and some of the salient features are: bodies of double wall construction, equipped with one giant star burner and three regular star burners, ebonized; zincized rust resisting oven linings, nickeled adjustable air shutters which give perfect regulation without the use of a bolt, grates in sections and parts of ovens instantly removable for cleaning and many other features.
